WILL CHANGE RED TRAIL TO EAST OF CITY

Elimination of Grade Crossings Planned by Board of County Commissioners

ASK FOR FEDERAL AID
State Highway Commission Requested to Proceed with Plans for the Road

Plans for changing the course of the National Parks Highway for a distance of 1.1 miles east of Bismarck to eliminate four railroad grade crossings were adopted by the board of county commissioners at a meeting here late yesterday. It is proposed to undertake the work, probably early next year in conjunction with the state highway commission.

A resolution was adopted providing for the change from the east end of Main street, near the penitentiary. The road would swing up through the present tourist camp, avoid crossing the N. P. main line, pass close to the corner of the prison, and strike the present Red Trail again a few hundred feet east. The distance is about one and one-tenth miles. Two N. P. and one South Sea crossing would be avoided.

The change was proposed by State Engineer W. G. Black and Project Engineer A. D. McKinnon, and preliminary surveys are under way for the change as a part of the plan of the United States Bureau of Public Roads and the State Highway Commission for the elimination of grade crossings on primary highways. While no grade-crossing accidents were reported immediately east of the city this year there have been many close escapes of motorists.

Under the resolution the county commissioners request the state commission to proceed with preparation of surveys, plans, specifications and estimates required for the improvement. The improvement plan is grading only. The state body also is requested to take all necessary steps toward securing cooperation with the United States Bureau in order to obtain federal aid. In the amount of 50 percent of the improvement and the state highway commission is requested to provide 45 percent of the cost. The county is to get the right-of-way.

The commissioners also agreed to cooperate in the improvement of the county line road from Wilton two and a half mile east.

Several mothers' pensions were allowed by the board.

STATE GETS MORE TRUCKS

Additional Surplus War Material To Be Sent Here

The state highway commission will be allocated surplus war equipment, Col. J. B. McCord, Washington, engaged in the distribution of materials to the several states, told State Engineer W. G. Black here yesterday. The additional equipment to be shipped to the state will include trucks, tractors, team harness and similar material which may be used in road work. Mr. Black stated that the equipment would be limited to such material as would be useful and economical in a given work throughout the state. Under the War Department ruling the equipment may be distributed only to counties and to cities.

Col. McCord praised the condition of the equipment in North Dakota, informing Mr. Black and William G. Peterson, representative of county engineers, that the equipment was being handled from the standpoint of protection from weather and care in handling.

Fargo, Oct. 24.—C. W. Morgan, who has been successful in the organization of several big farmers co-operative movements, has been selected by the Fargo committee which raised $2,500 to begin a co-operative potato marketing organization in this state.

This action was taken at a meeting of the committee, named at a recent meeting in Fargo to meet Fargo's share of the state quota, at the Fargo Commercial club at noon today.

The committee consists of Julius Baker, Dr. A. H. Benton, S. C. Crabbe, Sam Stern, Morton Page, Walter R. Reed and E. J. Weiser.

ADVERTISING OF BONDS IS NOT REQUIRED

May be Sold by City Commission of Bismarck for Par Without Seeking Bids

The city of Bismarck may sell bonds without first advertising for bids, but must sell them for less than par, according to a decision rendered by the Attorney-General's office. Asked whether or not the city commission of Bismarck, being a city of over 4,000 population, may sell $25,000 worth of bonds for the purchase of water works, which bonds have been regularly issued without first advertising for bids, the attorney replied as follows:

In our opinion, the sale may be made in such case, without advertising for bids. Under Section 4014, being part of Article 14, of the Political Code of the Compiled Laws of 1913, it is provided as follows:

"Any city . . . in this state may incur a bonded indebtedness for the purpose . . . of putting . . . in the manner provided in Section 4015 of the same Article as follows:

"The bonds voted as provided for in this Article shall be sold at not less than par value." The two sections constitute the whole of said Article 14. It will, therefore, be seen that no advertising is required under those sections. We are not unmindful of House Bill No. 130, Session Laws 1922, which provides that:

" . . . no city . . . shall sell . . . any issue of its bonds for whatever purpose issued without first advertising for bids."

The foregoing is contained in Section 1 of said Act. However, in Section 6 of the same Act is found the following provision:

"The provisions of this Act shall not apply to sales of bonds issued by . . . cities of over four thousand population . . . Therefore, none of the provisions of said House Bill No. 130 apply to the City of Bismarck, it being a city of over four thousand population, and that being true, said Sections 4015 is not in conflict with said House Bill No. 130, so far as the same applies to cities of over four thousand population, and is, therefore, not repealed. It must be borne in mind, however, that such bonds must not be sold at less than par."

LANDMARK OF CITY, ONE OF ITS FIRST LOG HOUSES, IS TORN DOWN

One of the first log houses to be built in the frontier "tent village" of Bismarck fifty years ago on what is now known as the corner of Thayer and Fifth streets is being torn down.

The house was erected by Mr. and Mrs. George Glass in the fall of 1873. It consisted of only one room at first but was expanded later. Cottonwood logs that came from this vicinity were used in the construction of the old landmark. Today after the passage of half a century the old house has passed its years of usefulness and is being hauled away.

POLICY OF NORTHWEST TOLD SLEMP

Governor Lays Matters Before President's Secretary in Washington

The policy of the Northwest, as evidenced by price stabilization meetings held throughout the state, was laid before the Secretary to President Coolidge emphatically by Governor R. A. Nestos at the Governors' law enforcement conference, in Washington last week. Being seated with Secretary Slemp at the conference, Governor Nestos explained to him the criticism of the plan of Eugene Meyer, managing-director of the War Finance Corporation, who recently came to North Dakota with a plan for ameliorating agricultural price conditions, and on his return to the capital yesterday, at the request of Mr. Slemp, embodied the opinion of the Northwest as developed in the conferences, in a letter to the president. The Governor also asked a well known agricultural leader of the state to also lay his ideas before Mr. Slemp.

Governor Nestos expressed himself as pleased with the Governor's conference at the White House, when the problems of law enforcement alone were taken up. With the possible exception of one, support was pledged President Coolidge. The latter, he said, impressed the Governors favorably by the manner in which he handled the conference and his attitude.

CHARGES VETS BUREAU HEAD HANDED "TIPS"

Notified Company in Advance of Building Plans; Received $5,000, Charge

AGENT ON THE STAND

Former Director Forbes of Bureau Is Implicated in Testimony at Inquiry

Washington, Oct. 24.—Principals of the Thompson Black company, located $5,000 to Charles R. Forbes, at "a party" in Chicago, and Forbes merely thanked him for it.

Mortimer said he personally delivered the $5,000 to Forbes, at "a party" in Chicago, and Forbes merely thanked him for it. "I asked him for a note for the amount," the witness continued, "but he just laughed."

Questioned, Mortimer said Forbes never had given him any receipt to show for the indebtedness nor had he ever paid the loan. He added that he had advanced money to Forbes at other times but did not give the amount.

Mortimer testified that he obtained an advance of $10,000 just before he paid the money over with a view to using the second $5,000 to pay the balance of a trip he took with Mr. Forbes to the Pacific Coast. He asserted he did pay all of Mr. Forbes' expenses except railroad fare which was paid by the government.

The "parties" described by the witness took place, he said, from February, 1922, and during this time he continued, Mr. Forbes had continued with Mr. Black and Mr. Thompson concerning contracts and promised that their firm would be taken care of in the letting of contracts over which he claimed he had authority.

Officials of the company also were given a confidential list of the sites where it was proposed to erect hospitals. Mortimer testified, and after inspection they decided that they would want to build the proposed plant at Northampton, Mass., and so informed Mr. Forbes. The directors, according to the witness, supplied them with plans and specifications in advance of this general discussion to contractors. Mortimer said this naturally gave his firm an advantage.

BELIEVE PAIR ARE ROBBERS

Couple Shot to Death Held Responsible For Many Acts

St. Louis, Oct. 24.—That Wilbert Grant who with his wife Rosie, were shot to death in a resort near here yesterday was responsible for many safe robberies in large cities of the middlewest was the theory advanced by police following the finding of a complete set of burglar's tools at a local hotel room occupied by the couple.

Detectives searched the room and found in addition to tools 57 war saving certificates, a $500 bond and an automatic pistol, a swivel off shot gun and ammunition. Most of the certificates were issued to women in Kansas City. The couple were shot by three armed men who entered the resort when Grant and his wife and their chauffeur were the only customers.

AX MURDERS STIR SOUTH

Twentieth Death Is Reported in Birmingham, Alabama

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 24.—"Ax murders" victim Birmingham were increased to 20 today, when Mrs. Frank Romeo died from wounds inflicted by a person who entered the shop and home of Bernard Vigilante, her son-in-law last night. Mrs. Vigilante also was probably fatally injured. The assailant used a meat cleaver. Sixty dollars was removed from the cash register, police say.

Jim Taylor, negro, was arrested several hours after the attack and is being held for examination. Besides 20 deaths from such attacks within the last two and a half years, 15 other persons have been injured. Numerous arrests have been made but few convictions have resulted.

CAN'T STOP FORMATION OF LOAN COMPANY

The state banking board has no authority to refuse a charter to a building and loan association, after it has been properly incorporated, according to an opinion rendered the state banking department by Attorney-General George Shafer.

"The board of examiners have no discretion regarding issuing of a certificate of authority to commence business, when the building and loan association has been incorporated and made filings, as previously stated, and presented the certificate of the secretary of state to the state bank examiner," said the opinion.

It was added that the state banking board has authority, as often as is deemed necessary, to make examination as to the affairs of any building and loan association.

BERLIN SEES REPUBLICANS STILL LOSING

Ejected From Coblenz, Nine Persons Being Killed, and Lose Dueseldorf

LOSE AIX LA CHAPELLE

Situation of the Separatists Today Is Regarded as on The Downgrade

CROWN PRINCE EAGER
Dorn, Berlin, Oct. 24.—The visit which former Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm is now making at Dorn castle is regarded as having significance. According to information from reliable sources and persons close to the former Kaiser the prince's presence in Dorn is connected with the return of Princess Hermine from the Reich, whence she brought very important news concerning the activities of the nationalist military party and chances of eventual return of William Hohenzollern to throne. It is stated that Hermine herself is displaying great activity and that all her keen intelligence is directed toward the object and hope of becoming Empress.

London, Oct. 24.—Reports received in Berlin indicate the Rhineland Republicans are losing ground, says dispatch to the Central News. They have been ejected from Coblenz, the message states, nine persons having been killed. Republicans have been driven from Dueseldorf and Crefeld.

Paris, Oct. 24.—Rhineland republic has been proclaimed at Coblenz and a provisional government has been appointed but as a satirical French newspaper put it, "Republicans seem lacking."

The situation of the two separatists this morning is not brilliant. They made no headway, rather the reverse. They appeared definitely to have lost Aix La Chapelle and also to hold on other places as the loyalist police react from the first surprise of the coup, and realize that the French and Belgian authorities are perfectly sincere in their hostility and have no intention of interfering, except to stop bloodshed.

HALF DOZEN KILLED

Aix La Chapelle, Oct. 24.—Half a dozen people were killed and scores wounded as the loyalists gained possession of Aix La Chapelle.

The movement to oust the separatists from the government building which they wanted to form Monday night had gained strength by Tuesday morning and before noon some of the separatists who had been in the structure were attacked by the crowd.

OCCUPY TOWN HALL

Wiesbaden, Oct. 24.—Several hundred separatists occupied the town hall this morning, also seizing several other government buildings. Attacks on the police stations were repulsed. The police disarmed street demonstrators and then cleared the town hall. There were some firing, 10 persons being wounded. The French have undertaken patrol duty.

HAS SPENT FORCE

Dueseldorf, Oct. 24.—The Rhineland Republican movement has spent its first force, according to report over the crippled wire, but the situation is still confused. The Republicans took a few additional villages and towns yesterday and last night but cleared out of Coblenz, their capital, Mayence, and reaction is apparent in a number of towns they still hold.

DELIVER NOTE

Paris, Oct. 24.—A German note delivered to the Separatists Commission today asks the commission to begin an examination into Germany's capacity for payment and to allow representatives of the Berlin government personally to explain the measures taken by Germany for running her budget and stabilizing her currency.

Dueseldorf, Oct. 24.—Muehlheim-on-Rhine, nearly opposite Cologne, was taken from a train and kidnapped.

DUCK HUNTERS WANT TO KNOW ABOUT WEATHER, AND THEY WANT IT COLD

There were a lot of telephone calls received at the weather bureau last night and early today.

The callers weren't seeking a kind word that the cold snap would turn out to be cold and dark and windy today. For most of the callers were duck hunters. Scores of them scattered early from Bismarck today for lakes and ponds.

They learned, when calling, however, that they had to make haste, for indications are that the chilly breezes won't last long. O. W. Roberts, weather observer, said indications were that today and tomorrow will see the end of it. A few days ago there was the same kind of a cool wave sweeping across Canada. But in each case it

MAJORITY WILL BE WITHOUT HOUSE LEADERS

Practically All Members of Republican Group of Leaders Forced to Retire

DEMS COME IN STRONG

Mondell of Wyoming Will Have to Meet Onslaughts Almost Single Handed

Washington, Oct. 24.—Besides the difficulties which it will encounter with the militant progressives in its party ranks the regular Republican organization and house of representatives will find itself handicapped at the coming session by reason of the scarcity of members who understand floor combat and the more intimate details of parliamentary procedure. Deaths and voluntary or enforced retirement have removed from the majority side of the house almost the entire group of men who in recent sessions have stood as the bulwark against the onslaught of the minority. As a result whoever succeeds to the floor leadership, vacated by Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming will find himself in the position of having to meet almost single-handed the frequent efforts of the democrats to throw the proverbial monkey wrench into the house machinery.

Supporting the majority leaders will be Mann to unravel parliamentary snarls or Towner to expound learnedly upon the rules, no Walsh to be ready with musty precedents against this proposal of that. There will be a different situation on the democratic side. Every one of the old group of leaders will be back and they will be augmented by Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic national committee, who has been returned from Tennessee. There will be Garret, of Tennessee, floor leader, Oldfield of Arkansas, the "whip," and many others.

CHINA TROOPS ROUT BANDITS

Attempt to Raid Train Results in Failure

Peking, China, Oct. 24.—Troops routed several hundred bandits who attempted today to capture a passenger train on the Peking-Hankow train as it was passing through the northern part of Honan province. The train backed out of danger under fire. The locomotive was struck by bullets but no passengers were injured.

The raid took place at Hushang-cheng. It was reminiscent of the Linchen outrage of last spring when numerous foreigners were taken from a train and kidnapped.

GOVERNOR IS SUSPENDED BY LEGISLATURE

Lieutenant-Governor Assumes Office Pending Final Impeachment Decision

GETS BUT ONE VOTE

One Member of State Senate Stands Behind Governor Ousted From Office

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 24.—A temporary restraining order to prevent Lieutenant Governor M. E. Trapp from assuming the governorship was issued late today by Judge Tom Chambers, Sr., in the state district court on the petition of Governor J. C. Walton. A hearing to make the order permanent is scheduled for tomorrow.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 24.—A third formal charge was added today to the impeachment bill against Governor J. C. Walton when the house voted 51 to 16, to approve a committee's report accusing the Governor of using his official authority for his personal financial gain.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 24.—The bitterest fight precipitated since the convening of the special session of the legislature broke in the house of representatives today when Representative Callahan, democrat, Letimer county, introduced a resolution providing for investigation to determine who paid the expenses of house members when they convened Sept. 26, and were dispersed by military authorities by order of Governor J. C. Walton.

Callahan is a Walton supporter. The resolution was adopted after a brief but acrimonious debate and referred to a committee of house members to investigate.

The resolution sought by inquiry to determine whether the Ku Klux Klan or certain "inferiors" in Tulsa had contributed funds for the attempted session.

Rep. J. B. Phillips, democrat of Cleveland county, assailed Callahan for his reflection on the house members who sought to answer the call for the special session. He demanded that the members of the legislature "clean up" and declared that if it were proved untrue he would move Callahan's suspension from the house. Callahan rejoined that he had the proof and dared the house to let him produce his testimony.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 24.—Governor J. C. Walton was suspended from office at 6 o'clock last evening when the state senate by a vote of 36 to 1 adopted a resolution temporarily relieving him of his official duties, following the submission by the lower house of a bill of impeachment against him.

The impeachment bill charging the executive with entering into "a corrupt agreement with Dr. A. B. Davidson, state health commissioner to place T. P. Edwards, the governor's personal chauffeur, on the payroll of the health department at $200 a month; and that thereby "certain moneys were diverted from the treasury object and purpose for which they were appropriated by law."

The text of the resolution suspending the governor follows:

"Whereas, the house of representatives of the Ninth legislature, pursuant to the provisions of the constitution, has filed with the senate articles of impeachment and

"Whereas, J. C. Walton, governor of Oklahoma, is charged with offenses made grounds of impeachment by the constitution, and

Governor Notified.
"Whereas, the filing of the articles with the senate automatically suspends the office with its duties and compensations evolves upon the lieutenant governor."

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the senate that the governor and lieutenant governor be advised as to their duties in this event and that the secretary of the state notify the governor and lieutenant governor of the proceeding thus had and to present to each of them a copy of this resolution."

The suspension resolution was introduced by Senator W. W. Guisler, of Muskogee. A committee was named to inform the governor and lieutenant governor of the action. Saltp. Okla., and was notified by telephone.

The committee delivered its message to the governor in his office immediately after the vote. The committee also transmitted Article Three, charging the governor with preventing a meeting of a grand jury that was required by law but official acts and it senate accepted it also.

Meanwhile the house is to continue.

CHARGES VETS BUREAU HEAD HANDED "TIPS"

Notified Company in Advance of Building Plans; Received $5,000, Charge

AGENT ON THE STAND

Former Director Forbes of Bureau Is Implicated in Testimony at Inquiry

Washington, Oct. 24.—Principals of the Thompson Black company loaned $5,000 to Charles R. Forbes while he was director of the Veterans Bureau at a time when the company was seeking a contract for the construction of a government hospital, Elias H. Mortimer of Philadelphia, a former agent of the company, testified today in the senate investigation of the Veterans Bureau.

Mortimer said he personally delivered the $5,000 to Forbes, at "a party" in Chicago, and Forbes merely thanked him for it.

"I asked him for a note for the amount," the witness continued, "but he just laughed."

Questioned, Mortimer said Forbes never had given him any record to show for the indebtedness nor had he ever paid the loan. He added that he had advanced money to Forbes at other times but did not give the amount.

Mortimer testified that he obtained an advance of $10,000 just before he paid the money over with a view to using the second $5,000 to pay the expenses of a trip he took with Mr. Forbes to Coast Pacific. He asserted he did pay all of Mr. Forbes' expenses except railroad fare which was paid by the government.

The "parties" described by the witness took place; he said, from February, 1922, and during this time he continued Mr. Forbes had conferences with Mr. Black and Mr. Thompson concerning contracts and promised that their firm would be taken care of in the letting of contracts over which he claimed he had authority.

Officials of the company also were given a confidential list of the sites where plans and specifications were given, Mortimer testified, and inspection they decided that they would want to build the proposed plant at Northampton, Mass., and so informed Mr. Forbes. The directors, according to the witness, supplied them with plans and specifications in advance of this general distribution to contractors. Mortimer said this naturally gave his firm an advantage.

BELIEVE PAIR ARE ROBBERS

Couple Shot to Death Held Responsible For Many Acts

St. Louis, Oct. 24.—That Wilbert Grant who with his wife Rosie, were shot to death in a resort near here yesterday was responsible for many safe robberies in large cities of the midwest was the theory advanced by police following the finding of a complete set of burglary tools at a local hotel room occupied by the couple.

Detectives searched the room and found in addition to tools 57 war saving certificates, a $500 bond and an automatic pistol, a sawed off shot gun and ammunition. Most of the certificates were issued to women in Kansas City. The couple were shot by three armed men who entered the resort when Grant and his wife and their chauffeur were the only customers.

ODD FELLOWS OF DISTRICT IN MEETING

Gather in Bismarck From Other Towns for Annual Discussion of Order

Odd Fellows from Mandan, Wilton, Hazleton and Bismarck gathered here last night for a district meeting under Judge I. C. Davies, district deputy. Three past grand masters of the grand lodge of North Dakota—Rev. B. A. Fahl and H. A. Armstrong of Hazleton and C. R. Green of Bismarck—were present and all made short talks upon the work of the lodge. Addresses also were made by Brig. Gen. Theodore Koffel of the Patriarchs Militant and Lieut. Col. C. L. Hanson of the same branch of the order.

A quartet composed of Messrs. Noggle, Hughes, Bublitz and Flanagan sang. Miss Bessie Williams sang the new Odd Fellows song brought out at the recent Cincinnati convention, entitled "He's an Odd Fellow." "The Happy Five" of Mandan furnished orchestral music. Among the guests was Mrs. Della Crosthwaite of Mandan, past president of the Rebekahs.

AX MURDERS STIR SOUTH

Twentieth Death Is Reported in Birmingham, Alabama

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 24.—"Ax murder" victims in Birmingham were increased to 20 today, when Mrs. Frank Romeo died from wounds inflicted by a person who entered the shop and home of Bernard Vigilante, her son-in-law last night. Mrs. Vigilante also was probably fatally injured. The assailant used a meat cleaver. Sixty dollars was removed from the cash register, police say.

Jim Taylor, negro, was arrested several hours after the attack and is being held for examination. Besides 20 deaths from such attacks within the last two and a half years, 18 other persons have been injured. Numerous arrests have been made but few convictions have resulted.

CAN'T STOP FORMATION OF LOAN COMPANY

The state banking board has no authority to refuse a charter to a building and loan association, after it has been properly incorporated, according to an opinion rendered by the state banking department by Attorney-General George Shafer.

"The board of examiners have no discretion regarding issuing of a certificate of authority to commence business, when the building and loan association has been incorporated and made filings, as previously stated, and presented the certificate of the secretary of state to the state bank examiner," said the opinion.

It was added that the state banking board has authority, as often as is deemed necessary, to make examination as to the affairs of any building and loan association.

PIONEER PASSES

Jamestown, Oct. 24.—Fritz Jensen, 72, died suddenly Sunday at the home of his son Herman Jensen. Mr. Jensen came to this country from Germany in May, 1891, and has lived in and around Jamestown ever since, farming southeast of Jamestown, some 13 miles, until 1910.

HOG RIDER'S LEG BROKEN

Jamestown, N. D., Oct. 24.—Paul Crawford, eight year old boy of Jamestown, received a broken leg when he was thrown from a pig which he was riding. The boy got astride the porker but was unable to control the movement and was slammed against the pen.

BERLIN SEES REPUBLICANS STILL LOSING

Ejected From Coblenz, Nine Persons Being Killed, and Lose Duesseldorf

LOSE AIX LA CHAPELLE

Situation of the Separatists Today Is Regarded as on The Downgrade

CROWN PRINCE EAGER.
Dorn, Holland, Oct. 24.—The visit which former Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm is now making at Dorn castle is regarded as having significance. According to information from reliable sources and persons close to the former Kaiser the prince's presence in Dorn is connected with the return of Princess Hermine from the Reich, whence she brought very important news concerning the activities of the nationalist military party and chances of eventual return of William Hohenzollern to throne. It is stated that Hermine herself is displaying great activity and that all her intelligence is directed toward the object and hope of becoming Empress.

London, Oct. 24.—Reports received in Berlin indicate the Rhineland Republicans are losing ground, says a dispatch to the Central News. They have been ejected from Coblenz, the message states, nine persons having been killed. Republicans have been driven from Duesseldorf and Cerdell.

Paris, Oct. 24.—Rhineland republic has been proclaimed at Coblenz and a provisional government has been appointed but as a satirical French newspaper put it, "Republicans seem lacking."

The situation of the two separatists this morning is not brilliant. They made no headway, rather the reverse. They appeared definitely to have lost Aix La Chapelle and also their hold on other places as the separatist police react from the first surprise of the coup, and realize that the French and Belgian authorities are perfectly sincere in their neutrality and have no intention of interfering except to stop bloodshed.

HALF DOZEN KILLED

Aix La Chapelle, Oct. 24.—Half a dozen people were killed and scores wounded as the separatists gained possession of Aix La Chapelle.

The movement to oust the separatists from the government building which began to form Monday night had gained strength by Tuesday morning and before noon some of the separatists who had been in the structure were attacked by the crowd.

OCCUPY TOWN HALL

Wiesbaden, Oct. 24.—Several hundred Separatists occupied the town hall this morning, also seizing several other government buildings. Attacks on the police stations were repulsed.

The police disarmed street demonstrators and then cleared the town hall. There was some firing, 10 persons being wounded. The French have undertaken patrol duty.

HAS SPENT FORCE

Duesseldorf, Oct. 24.—The Rhineland Republican movement has spent its first force, according to report over the crippled wire, but the situation is still confused. The Republicans took a few additional villages and towns yesterday and last night but cleared out of Coblenz, their capital. Mayence, and reaction is apparent in a number of towns they still hold.

DELIVER NOTE

Paris, Oct. 24.—A German note delivered to the Separatists Commission today asks the commission to begin an examination in Germany's capacity for payment and to allow representatives of the Berlin government personally to explain the measures taken by Germany for forming her budget and stabilizing her currency.

MAJORITY WILL BE WITHOUT HOUSE LEADERS

Practically All Members of Republican Group of Leaders Forced to Retire

DEMS COME IN STRONG

Mondell of Wyoming Will Have to Meet Onslaughts Almost Single Handed

Washington, Oct. 24.—Besides the difficulties which it will encounter with the militant progressives in its party ranks the regular Republican organization and house of representatives will find itself handicapped at the coming session by reason of the scarcity of members who understand floor combat and the more intimate details of parliamentary procedure. Deaths and voluntary or enforced retirement have removed from the majority side of the house almost the entire group of men who in recent sessions have stood as the bulwark against the onslaught of the minority. As a result whoever succeeds to the floor leadership, vacated by Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming will find himself in the position of having to meet almost single-handed the frequent efforts of the democrats to throw the proverbial monkey wrench into the house machinery.

Supporting the minority leaders will be no Mann to unravel parliamentary snarls or Towner to expound learnedly upon the rules, no Walsh to be ready with musty precedents against this proposal of that. There will be a different situation on the Democratic side. Every one of the old group of leaders will be back and they will be augmented by Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic national committee, who has been returned from Tennessee. There will be Garrett, of Tennessee, floor leader. Oldfield of Arkansas, the "whip," and many others.

CHINA TROOPS ROUT BANDITS

Attempt to Raid Train Results in Failure

Peking, China, Oct. 24.—Troops routed several hundred bandits who attempted today to capture a passenger train on the Peking-Hankow train as it was passing through the northern part of Honan province. The train backed out of danger under fire. The locomotive was struck by bullets but no passengers were injured.

The raid took place at Hushang-cung. It was reminiscent of the Linchen outrage of last spring when numerous foreigners were taken from a train and kidnapped.

DUCK HUNTERS WANT TO KNOW ABOUT WEATHER, AND THEY WANT IT COLD

There were a lot of telephone calls received at the weather bureau last night and early today.

The callers weren't seeking a kind word that the cold snap would turn away—they wanted to be sure it would be cold and dark and windy today. For most of the callers were duck hunters. Scores of them scattered early from Bismarck today for lakes and ponds.

They learned, when calling, however, that they had to make haste, for indications are that the chilly breezes won't last long. O. W. Roberts, weather observer, said indications were that today and tomorrow might see the end of it.

A few days ago there was the same kind of a cool wave sweeping across Canada. But in each case it was followed by a warm wave. The local forecast is for cloudy and colder tonight, with Thursday generally fair, and no more, but the weather bureau to follow the course it has taken in Canada.

No snow accompanied the cool wave in Canada, but there was snow reported farther south in the mountain sections of Utah, and it was snowing at Rapid City this morning.

The lowest temperature locally last night was 37. Williston reported 34 and Moorhead 33. The coldest point was Calgary, Canada, where it was 12 above.

There is a large area of high pressure centered over the northwestern Rocky Mountain slope. Fair weather prevails in the Mississippi Valley and west of the Rockies.

GOVERNOR IS SUSPENDED BY LEGISLATURE

Lieutenant-Governor Assumes Office Pending Final Impeachment Decision

GETS BUT ONE VOTE

One Member of State Senate Stands Behind Governor Ousted From Office

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 24.—A temporary restraining order to prevent Lieutenant Governor M. E. Trapp from assuming the governorship was issued late today by Judge Tom Chambers, Sr., in the state district court on application of Governor J. C. Walton. A hearing to make the order permanent is scheduled for tomorrow.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 24.—A third formal charge was added today to the impeachment bill against Governor J. C. Walton when the house voted, 81 to 16, to approve article four of its impeachment committee's report accusing the governor of using his official authority for his personal financial gain.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 24.—The bitterest fight precipitated since the convening of the special session of the legislature broke in the house of representatives today when Representative Callahan, democrat, Edimer county, introduced a resolution providing for investigation to determine who paid the expenses of house members when they convened Sept. 26, and were dispersed by military authorities by order of Governor J. C. Walton.

The resolution was adopted after a brief but acrimonious debate and referred to a committee of house members to investigate.

The resolution sought by inquiry to determine whether the Ku Klux Klan or certain "interests" in Tulsa had contributed funds for the attempted session.

Rep. J. B. Phillips, democrat of Cleveland county, assailed Callahan for his reflection on the house members who sought to answer the call for the special session. He demanded an immediate investigation of the legislature's solon charges and declared that if it were proved untrue he would move Callahan's suspension from the house. Callahan rejoined that he had the proof and dared the house to let him produce his testimony.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 24.—Governor J. C. Walton was suspended from office at 8:40 o'clock last evening when the state senate by a vote of 36 to 1 adopted a resolution temporarily relieving him of his official duties, following the submission by the lower house of a bill of impeachment against him.

The impeachment bill charging the executive with entering into "a corrupt agreement" with Dr. E. Davenport, state health commissioner to place T. P. Edwards, the governor's personal chauffeur, on the payroll of the health department at $200 a month; and that thereby "certain moneys were diverted from the statutory object and purpose for which they were appropriated by law."

The text of the resolution suspending the governor follows: "Whereas, the house of representatives of the Ninth legislature, pursuant to the provisions of the constitution, filed with the senate articles of impeachment and,

"Whereas, J. C. Walton, governor of Oklahoma, is charged with offenses made grounds of impeachment by the constitution, and,

Governor Notified.
"Whereas, the filing of the articles with the senate has been duly notified by the secretary of the state to the governor and lieutenant governor of the proceeding thus had and to present to each of them a copy of this resolution."

The suspension resolution was introduced by Senator W. M. Gulager, of Muskogee. A committee was named to inform the governor and lieutenant governor of the action.

Lieutenant Governor Trapp is in Salpna, Okla., and was notified by telegram.

The committee delivered its message to the governor in his office. Immediately afterward the house transmitted Article Three, charging the governor with preventing the meeting of a grand jury that was to inquire into his official acts and the senate accepted it also.

Excitement of Latin Countries
Cools Down Quickly After
Coup d'Etat

AMUSEMENTS POPULAR

Government Workers Fall
Over Each Other in Searching For Their Offices

Madrid, Oct. 22.—The public pulse of Latin countries is beating true to form in Spain. The government has been overthrown by a coup d'etat, yet the excitement soon was over and today the mind of the crowd is busy as ever with its distractions and pleasures.

The cafes are crowded, and one can rarely find an empty seat at the outdoor tables. Bull fights are to the fore, and will continue to attract crowds until the weather breaks. A roulette table, it is rumored, is to be installed at the Ice Palace by permission of the dictator, Primo Rivera, who is said to be not insensible to the attraction of the game. The walk-to-do residents of Madrid have begun their exodus from San Sebastian, returning to the capital as fast as the limited train service can bring them.

Probably nothing has caused as much excited comment and speculation as the famous dance, the purpose of which is to make government employees do some work. It has been a veritable bombshell. It requires that all such men report at nine in the morning and be on duty until two in the afternoon. As a result the government buildings are overrun with strangers, standing over each other, asking where their offices are located, and when they find them, wondering what to do. A caricaturist suggests that concentration camps be established.

Ornaments To Business
Thousands of government officials, in the enjoyment of a mere pittance, learned in the past how to reduce their output of energy to a minimum, often not exceeding the mere act of signing the monthly pay sheet. Thousands more by means of an occasional "act of presence," as it is picturesquely called, in various departments managed to derive a multiplicity of incomes from as many sources. Under this system, salaries for the relatives of cabinet ministers, down to the most distant degree, were easy to obtain and by a series of compromises often maintained while the salary was out of office. Soon on every pay sheet was found for a host of party supporters.

One particular instance, much commented upon, is worth mentioning. The hero, a man known in his proper sphere of operations as a journalist, playing a party pen, had recently progressed so rapidly in his departmental connections that he might, but for his dismissal, now be faced with the problem of daily attendance in fifteen different offices, from all of which he drew an unearned salary. Another journalist's monthly pay had for many years been accounted for as "fodder for a mule."

The new decree has not spared those in high stations of life, and as a display of draconian justice the initial act of Millan de Priggo who, on taking over the duties of the home office, dismissed his own brother from a fine sinecure in the post office, calls for a tribute of respect. General Weyler's son has also lost a post believed to be especially lucrative.

BRITISH KEEP "HANDS OFF"

London, Oct. 22.—If the German separatist movement extends to Cologne which is the bridgehead of the British Rhineland Army, Great Britain will preserve an attitude of reserve but will take every measure to maintain order, prevent bloodshed and insure the continuance of the present local government, it was stated today.

YOUNG WEDDED COUPLE VANISH ON HONEYMOON

No Word Received For Five Weeks From Pair Who Wrote at First Each Day

FATHER IN SEARCH

Cambria, Wis., Oct. 22.—Cambria, said, quiet Wisconsin dairy town, has provided the police of two states with a mystery that equals any disappearance of humans in fiction. Seven weeks ago Abel Jones married the daughter of A. A. Kuehn, local general store keeper. Two days later they left on a honeymoon trip in an automobile. For two weeks a card or letter was received every other day by the bride's father. Then the letters ceased.

In five weeks since no word has been received from the young couple, no word has been received from anyone who saw them. Investigation made the mystery only more baffling. Seldom have the police been confronted with a case that lacks clues as this one.

Days, then a week and then a month past when Mr. Kuehn decided something must have happened. Fearing foul play he left for the search in his automobile and personally scoured the woods district and the small towns along the way. Distinctly remembering the phrase in his daughter's letter saying they were staying in a hotel at Crystal Falls he drove to that place with the intention of looking for their signatures on the hotel register. On his arrival he inquired the way to the hotel. He found that there had been no hotel in Crystal Falls for years. The free camping site was his next destination. Visiting campers being required to file their names with the caretaker, an examination revealed that they had not registered there.

Mr. Kuehn returned to Cambria, hoping that word had come during his absence, but when he arrived he found that the entire community wanted to hear from them what he wanted of them.

Chief of Police Martin of Cambria and Mr. Kuehn last night said they feared the couple may have been murdered. Mr. Kuehn's wife stated that they had taken a complete camping outfit with them, including a tent and that they intended to sleep along the roadway when they were not near a camping site. It is feared that someone killed the young couple while they were asleep and disposed of their bodies.

The bride and groom were well liked in this community and had no enemies so far as is known. Their wedding was one of the most elaborate in the history of the country-side. Both people grew up in Cambria.

The Essence of Real Brother- hood

SPEAKING editorially, under the caption, "A Hopeful Incident," the Beacon of Wichita, Kansas, in its issue of September 18, says:

"The banquet of the Industrial Relations Organization of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), reported in yesterday's Beacon, is a fine incident of the growing friendship in industrial relations."

"The most encouraging thing that is happening today in the industrial life of this country is in the new programs of co-operation that are being established between themselves and their employees by great employers. The best industrial plants in the country today are finding their own points of contact with their own men."

"In these new points of contact they are finding the base of that essence of real brotherhood that should exist between the man who labors and the man who employs. This new tendency is the most hopeful thing in the industrial life of America today."

The banquet referred to concluded the Fifth Annual Industrial Conference of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) inaugurated under the guidance of the Board of Directors.

The Industrial Relations Department of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is the crystallization of the plans of the Management for giving its employees a voice in the affairs of the Company, that they might sense the sheer joy that comes with independence, and thereby become better citizens, better husbands, better fathers, and better workmen.

The employee representatives of the Joint General Committee are elected by ballot of the employees. This Committee makes recommendations to the Management on matters pertaining to working and living conditions, hours, wages, safety, housing, athletics and other subjects of immediate interest to the employee.

Out of the 1400 cases which have been submitted to the Management by the Joint General Committee, 93.3% have been approved and made effective.

This exemplifies the spirit of fairness inherent throughout the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) organization.

It is an eloquent manifestation of the harmony prevailing throughout this shirt-sleeved organization of 27,000 men and women.

Through harmony is gained the wholehearted, earnest effort which results in high-speed efficiency. This efficiency has made the Company a leader in the petroleum industry and enables it to render such a superior service to the thirty million people of the Middle West.

SIGHTLESS, HE AIDS OTHERS IN SEEING

Has Perfected Headlight Such as Men With Sight Have Failed to Accomplish

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

Washington, Oct. 24.—Sightless himself, he helps others to see. For J. B. Nicholson, blind inventor, of Washington, has perfected what many men with good eyesight have attempted and failed—a simple, practicable automobile headlight that will always cast its rays in the direction the car is moving.

With Nicholson's invention, the light turns as the car turns. You never are driving into a dark wall, with your lights shooting at an angle of 30 degrees from the path in which you are moving.

"Equipped with these lights," Nicholson says, "the car looks where it's looking. I believe they will reduce accidents materially and save many lives. They are a safeguard to pedestrians as well as to motorists."

Successful demonstration of the blind inventor's lighting mechanism has been made before Inspector Hendley and officers of the police traffic squad here, before the police of Baltimore and a representative of the lighting committee of the Eastern Conference of Automobile Administrators, representing 11 eastern states.

That a blind man should be the one to work out successfully a lighting problem on which men with good eyes themselves have failed seems one of the little ironies which fate sometimes plays on us.

Nicholson not only conceived the idea, but he actually made the first detailed drawings of his invention.

"It was all easy," he says. "I had it all right up in front of me, in my imagination, like it was on a blackboard. I could see every detail of it—in my mind's eye. Of course in making the drawings I had to work on a large scale, in inches, but that was easy. By measuring my distances from the edge of the paper I could get it all down accurately. The man who made the working drawings said it was the easiest sketch to work from he ever had."

Before losing his eyesight, Nicholson was an expert mechanic at the Washington navy yard. His blindness, he says, has accentuated his inventive bent without seriously handicapping him in working out his ideas.

"The blindness doesn't bother me," he insists. "I can picture to myself just how everything ought to be just as well as I can see it."

Nicholson is now working on an "exhaust purifier" which he claims will neutralize the poisonous content of the fumes now thrown off by automobile engines.

DAKOTA MAN PIONEER AIR MAIL PILOT

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 24.—With all the advance in aviation and commercialization of the airplane, it remained for a North Dakotan, C. B. Elison, R. A. M., A. S. R. C., son of O. Elison of Hutton, N. D., to obtain the first government contract for carrying mail by airplane in Alaska territory, and to establish the Farthest North Airplane company, a pioneer organization of its kind in Alaska.

Mr. Elison obtained his flying training during the World war, and in 1918 and 1919, made several exhibition flights in North Dakota.

Graduate of the University of North Dakota, college of liberal arts in 1920, and in 1922 went to Fairbanks, Alaska, to take charge of the city schools there.

After a few months' sojourn in Alaska, he saw great possibilities for aviation—greater than those offered in the United States, because of difficulties of transportation and communication in the far north.

As a result, he and two friends, R. C. Wood and K. F. Thompson, both of Fairbanks, formed The Farthest North Airplane company. They telegraphed the price of an airplane to Minneapolis and in a few weeks the machine was set ashore in Alaska.

Hardly had the machine been uncrated than Elison obtained the contract for carrying United States mail to the Salchaket Mining company, a trip that had formerly taken 10 days, but which he made in two hours, carrying 400 pounds of mail. This was the first government contract for carrying mail by airplane to be let in Alaska territory. Since then, Mr. Elison has obtained other mail carrying contracts and plans to obtain more airplanes.

The U. S. S. Colorado, commanded by Captain Reginald R. Belknap, docked in the Brooklyn Navy Yard after a most successful trial cruise. She will remain in New York for two months while her fire control system is being installed. The ship is the first all-electric dreadnaught of the American navy. Note the "beads." Other Uses For Planes
But Mr. Elison has made other practical uses of aviation within a few miles of the Arctic circle. Recently he carried Dr. Aline Beegler of Fairbanks to Brooks, Alaska, in 55 minutes, the old method by boat requiring five days. A suffering patient was saved a nearly five days wait.

The long hours of daylight in summer compensate for lack of lighted landing fields, there being about 20 hours daily when there is sufficient light for safe flying.

KU KLUX HEAD ASKS BAN ON IMMIGRATION

Restriction Is Declared Necessary to Imperial Wizard in a Speech

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 24.—The Ku Klux Klan's attitude against negroes, Jews and Catholics was explained today by Dr. H. W. Evans, imperial wizard, in a speech which was announced as "outlining fully for the first time the policies of the Ku Klux Klan regarding restrictions of immigration and its program in this respect."

Dr. Evans recommended that the United States revise its policy so as to make its own selection of the class of immigrants wanted and then to invite them while excluding all not invited. Dr. Evans said in part: "The streams of population that have been and are pouring in upon us are ages old in racial character and capacity. We are the melting pot. Into it has been poured, almost promiscuously, perhaps in recent years designately, every drop ingredient of citizenship that the earth produces, the good and the bad. Out of it must come our success or failure as a Republic. The immigrant stream is month and monthly more inferior as I shall show by indisputable facts. Within the year Congress will enact a new immigration law."

"The present population is much less than half, perhaps not more than a third, of native Anglo-Saxon stock. We have today illiterates of the almost unbelievable number of 4,931,905 and mentally and physically diseased persons totalling more than 5,000,000."

"It is undeniable that we have not more than 35,000,000 100 percent Americans—men, women and children—perhaps thirty million would be the limit."

"There are certain vital requirements to be set for our citizenship. These are 1. Education. 2. Health. 3. Home Building."

"We already have at least three powerful and numerous elements that do not and forever will defy every fundamental requirement of assimilation."

"These he named as the Catholics, Jews and negroes."

STOLEN PISTOLS ARE RECOVERED

Two revolvers, among 43 taken from the National Guard Armory at Minot June 8, 1922, the night before the company was to go to camp, were received today at the Adjutant-General's office, having been recovered in Omaha by the police who turned them over to the ordinance department of the Seventh Corps Area. No information was given as to how the pistols were recovered. Major Harold Serenson said. Ownership was ascertained, however, he said, by numbers on them.

WHITE INDIAN RACE FOUND

Explorer Reports Discovery in Jungles of Eastern Panama

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Discovery of a race of white Indians with flaxen hair, in the almost impenetrable jungles of eastern Panama, was reported today by Richard C. Marsh of Brookport, an explorer. Mr. Marsh the first white man to advance into that unexplored region since Balboa brought back photographs.

The story of the discovery is told by the Rochester Journal and the Post-Express in a copyrighted article.

"I was in a native village when I noticed three white girls passing into the jungle," he said. "They had bodies as light as a sunburned white girl and decidedly light hair, but startling and incongruous sight among these black and rag clad negroes."

"It was then I was told they belonged to a white race living up the Chucanaque river. The negroes told me these whites all had light brown or yellow hair, and were wild and warlike."

"The skin of the girls' faces were tanned but free from that colored pigment so distinguishable in all brown and darker races. The features of the eldest girl were of light brown face, thin lips, well shaped chin and aquiline nose. They spoke no Spanish."

Warm Wave At Pole Is Not Permanent

Berlin, Oct. 24.—The warm weather reported from the Arctic regions is not to be taken seriously, according to Prof. Karl Kassner, of the Berlin Meteorological Institute. A hot wave hits the North Pole about every 35 years, and this is the first it is due. The climate does not really change. Warmer weather comes in cycles, and history is merely repeating itself. Antics of the sun are supposed to be responsible for the changes which come in the Arctic regions, as well as elsewhere in the world.

The rise in temperature in the Arctic regions has been going on now for several years. Dr. Kassner continues, if the reports of Norwegian fishermen may be believed, Dr. Axel C. Hagen, a Norwegian scientist, discovered new ice fields in Spitzbergen last August because of the thin covering of ice which lay over the ground. A Norwegian captain who has sailed the Arctic for 24 years reports that he began to notice the appreciable lessening of the ice five years ago, and that the flower and animal life have been much changed by the milder climate.

MA STRIBLING AND HER BOY FIGHTER DISCUSS AN OFFER.

By NEA Service
Macon, Ga., Oct. 24.—When Young Strubling, school-boy light-heavyweight, who caused the champion, Mike McTigue, and his imported referee, Harry Ertle, such great embarrassment some days ago at Columbus, gets an offer to fight his mother decides whether it should be accepted or not.

"Ma" Strubling, as she is known here, is virtually the business manager of her rising young gladiator. She feels that Young Strubling is a match for any man of his weight in the world, especially after the manner in which he cuffed McTigue around, but she is careful to see that he is not overly matched—or underpaid. In short, "Ma" Strubling is a regular manager, and none of the wise-alecky promoters are going to put anything over on her.

TAKE SUSPECTS IN HOTEL HOLDUP

Charles Haley, Ed. J. Boschart and Denis Maloney are held in jail at Wahpeton, N. D., charged with being the robbers who held up the Viking hotel and obtained $300 cash and about the same amount in checks, about 4 a. m. Oct. 25, in a warrant which Leigh J. Monson, police magistrate, signed today.

James Milligan of the Cass county sheriff's office left to bring the men to Fargo. Andrew Lindvig, acting night clerk of the hotel and C. Solum, also of the hotel staff went to Wahpeton and, succeeding in identifying the men, they told Judge Monson.

The fact that $300 cash and about the same in checks was stolen came out when the warrant was made out, as the proprietors announced that "only a small amount of money" had been taken, on the morning after the robbery.

Look in Ten Days

See the whiter teeth appear when you combat the film

Your druggist this week has 10-Day Tubes for a new way of teeth cleaning. Millions now employ it. You see its results in prettier teeth wherever you look today.

Now we urge you to learn what it means to you and yours. The test is delightful, the results are amazing. Go find them out.

The fight on film

Dental science has in late years started a fight on film. Film is that viscous coat you feel. Under old brushing methods, much of it clings and stays. Soon it becomes discolored, then forms dingy coats. That is why teeth lose luster.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Fewer escaped tooth troubles, fewer had glistening teeth, under old-time brushing methods.

Now research has discovered two effective film combatants. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

Able authorities proved these methods by many careful tests. Then a new-type tooth paste was created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Careful people of some 50 nations have now come to employ it, largely by dental advice.

Night-and-day aids

Pepsodent also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva—the neutralizer of mouth acids. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva—put there to digest starch deposits.

Those factors act as tooth-protecting agents. Every use of Pepsodent gives them manifold effect.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

ROTARIANS GO TO 'CLEANERS' FOR MEETING

Learn Intricate Processes of a Modern Laundry in Their Weekly Meeting

BOYS' WORK REPORT

President Duemeland Informs Rotarians of Work Being Done Throughout District

The Rotary Club went to the cleaners today. The members learned just how thoroughly a real clothes cleaning and laundering job is in a modern laundry these days. Also the vast difference between such an institution and the old-fashioned Monday washday operations.

This week in visiting week in laundries affiliated with the National Laundrymen's Association. The Capital Steam Laundry of Bismarck is a member, and this week is receiving scores of visitors individually by the establishment. Rotarian Elmer Ward of the laundry company invited the Rotarians to lunch there and also to learn something about the business.

Mr. Ward, President W. B. Couch of the laundry company and Samuel Payne, manager, explained the various processes while the laundry machines were in operation. The Rotarians learned that the business of laundering a collar in modern fashion is an intricate process, requiring expensive machinery and skillful hands. They saw that collars pass through several different machines before being pronounced ready for delivery. One machine, for example, simply ironed and softened the edges of the collar to prevent damage to the shirt, a new machine. Another ironed the collar except for the seam where the collar folds and that was dampened. The next machine curled the collar in proper shape to be delivered.

The Rotarians also saw that shirts pass through several different machines, each doing one particular job. The visitors did not have time to inspect all of the machinery and equipment of the laundry but they got a good idea of the business in inspecting the more intricate finishing machines.

Among other things they learned that in a modern laundry buttons are not torn off as in the old days, but missing buttons sewed on and carrying the word "service to the last degree" the laundry has darning and sewing machines.

The luncheon was served on the second floor of the laundry building, with President Henry Duemeland as presiding and Les Richmond as chairman of the program committee. Frank Murphy was required to tell something of his recent long automobile trip to the west coast and back, and he informed the Rotarians that when he came through the southern desert country he was surprised to find out that Sam had as much land to set out to dry. North Dakota, he added, looked mighty good when he returned.

President Duemeland told of the visit he and Secretary Ray Bergeson made to Minneapolis to attend a district executive meeting, and of discussions for the next Rotary conference which will be held in Bismarck. He particularly praised the progress being made in boys' work throughout the district, as related at the executive committee meeting. Bismarck's celebrated included those of Phil Meyer, Carl Nelson and E. J. Taylor. Archie McPhee and Harry Bernstein entertained as "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean." W. B. Couch and Sam Payne were among those introduced to the visiting Rotarians. Hank Halverson sang for the ladies. Visitors of the day included George Hogue, Harry Bergeson, Archie McPhee and W. S. Neal. The attendance report was 83.6 percent.

Emigration To U. S. Alarms Norway

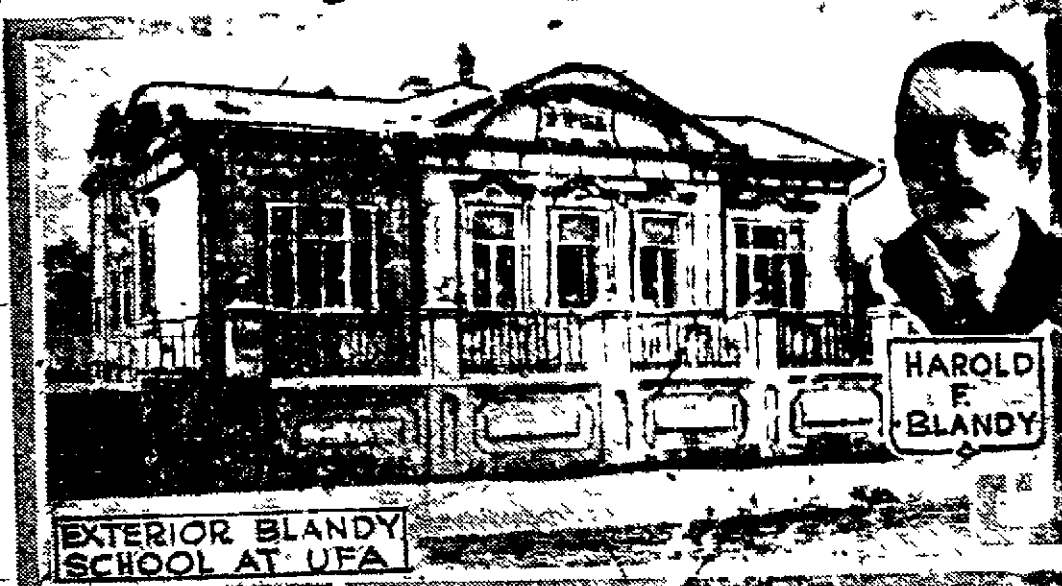

Christiania, Oct. 24.—A series of conferences of a semi-official nature are shortly to take place under the aegis of the Norwegian Home Office to consider the best means of stopping the constant exodus to Norwegian subjects to America.

During the last twelve months the number of emigrants from the country has reached an alarming figure, so much so that the military authorities in some districts cannot obtain the necessary quotas of men for the yearly conscription training.

One suggestion being put forward is that the sparsely populated northern provinces of Norway should be colonized, the colonists to be encouraged by state aid to cultivate the land, form communities and otherwise utilize the vast areas that are as yet entirely wild.

The verdict was reached by the jury last night and read in circuit court today.

Russians Honor Americans Who Died In Relief Administration's Service During War Against Great Famine

EXTERIOR BLANDY SCHOOL AT UFA

INTERIOR BLANDY CHILDRENS HOME AT UFA

Harold F. Blandy of New York, the American Relief Administration worker who died in Ufa, Russia, from typhus contracted while working among the disease stricken victims of the Great Hunger, has been honored by having two Russian institutions named for him. At Ufa the Blandy Memorial Hospital is ministering to the needs of the population and the name of the young American martyr is held in sacred remembrance. On the anniversary of his death, ten thousand people of the city knelt bareheaded in the square on which the hospital faces, while the Russian archbishop of the Ufa Diocese celebrated a requiem mass. High officials and church dignitaries marched in the procession and they were followed by long lines of peasants and workers who had been saved from starvation by the help of America. There were children in the procession who had eaten in the A. R. A. kitchens; men and women to whom the American gift of corn had come as manna from heaven; grateful patients whose diseases had been healed with medicines which American charity had brought to Russia; mothers whose children had been born within the walls of the hospital whose doors would have been closed to them had it not been for A. R. A. support.

And out in the city of Missa, not far from Ekaterinburg on the edge of Siberia, there is the Blandy Memorial Home for Children where famine waifs and orphans are still being fed from the rations that the A. R. A. left behind.

Nor is Harold Blandy the only American to be so honored. At Simbirsk, where Philip B. Sheild mysteriously disappeared, and is admittedly dead, there is a Sheild Memorial Home, the finest children's home in the entire city, a model in its equipment and management, whose juvenile inmates sleep between A. R. A. sheets, under American blankets, bathe with A. R. A. soap, dry themselves on A. R. A. towels, wear A. R. A. shoes and when they are sick, take A. R. A. medicines, as do the children in thousands of other government institutions throughout the Soviet Republic.

The A. R. A. has withdrawn from Russia but what America did there will not be forgotten. The relief ended because the famine which the far off American people had fought so successfully was at an end. Russia is no longer starving, but the masses of her people know where their salvation came from, and they are grateful.

"The vote was 36 to 1 for the resolution," the governor was told. "Who voted for me?" he inquired. "Senator Barker." "Will you have any statement to tonight, Governor?" "Not a word," he replied. ASK SUPPORT FOR 'DEMONS'

Will Need Solid Backing of City to go Through Champ Contest

The time of the starting of the championship football game between Bismarck and Mandan high school eleven—3:30 p. m. Saturday on the local lot—was met especially for the benefit of business men and others who might find it easier to absent themselves from their business at that time to witness the game, it was stated by high school athletic authorities today.

A call for liberal support of the team was made today. If the Bismarck team wins the championship contest from Mandan, it will have to meet heavy expenses for the semifinals in the state tournament, and more expenses if the team goes into the championship contest as it did last year.

MARKET NEWS WHEAT BUYING ON INCREASE

Upward Tendency Is Felt in Market Early Today

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Increased buying on the part of commission houses gave an upward tendency to the wheat market today, offering the early dealings. Besides, offerings were light except on pulses in price. Steadiness of Liverpool quotations counted somewhat as a handicap to bears. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to 3 cents higher with December $1.05 1/2 to $1.06 1/4 and May $1.10 1/2 was followed by a moderate general advance and then somewhat of a reaction.

Subsequently the market was well sustained. Gossip was current that several large grain traders would go to Washington to confer with government officials about the best methods of helping farmers get high prices. The close was unsettled, 1/2 to 3/4 cents to 1/2 cent lower, with December $1.06 1/2 to $1.07 1/2 and May $1.11 to $1.08.

NORTH DAKOTA WELFARE LAWS ARE PRAISED

C. L. Young of Bismarck Tells Social Work Conference That Advance Has Been Made

MUCH YET TO BE DONE

Minot, N. D., Oct. 24.—North Dakota now has a good system of welfare laws, particularly with relation to children, but needs adequate administration and an understanding public opinion, C. L. Young of Bismarck president of the North Dakota Conference of Social Work, told the conference in his president's address here last night.

"Law in the broad sense is the basic thing," said Mr. Young. "Without it society is chaos. With it, there is hope that the greatest good to the greatest number may be ultimately achieved. But I am more and more convinced of the futility of statutes alone. They may, and often do, present problems rather than solutions are no exception to this rule. They may be well conceived but they are without value unless they are wisely administered, and wise administration is impossible unless back of it lie understanding and discernment on the part of the public and the executive officials."

"From the study of the conditions in this state made by or for the children's ends commission, and from consideration of child welfare standards laid down by those conferences of experts in which standards were considered I feel that the laws now upon our books are the expression of the best thought of our time upon the problems which they seek to reach. There are two or three measures of prime importance which were defeated and which shall require our consideration at later sessions of the assembly, but there are other things of outstanding importance now lying at hand to do."

Mr. Young declared the viewpoint that measures for the relief of unfortunate were acts of charity was wrong. He declared there is slight conception of the relation of the welfare of such classes to the general welfare of society and too little knowledge of the objective toward which the laws providing for them are directed. It follows that the officials who are required to execute the laws effect must conduct their work in advance of the understanding of the public whose servants they are, else they fail entirely to achieve the results for which the laws were designed."

An Opportunity
"Here then," President Young continued, "is something constructive to be done. Welfare legislation will not accomplish its purposes unless there is interpretation of the laws to the public, for it is not conceivable that the administration of the laws will be far in advance of the conception of the community. There must be knowledge not only of what the laws contain, but of the theories which underlie them. True, the aim of the legislation which we have is to help the individual members of the groups toward which the laws are specifically directed, but after all the great objective is the protection of society as a whole. These laws in fact affect the material and spiritual welfare of every citizen of the state. When care and training are provided for a crippled, or a deaf, or a dumb or a blind child, there is contribution not only to the child's comfort but fundamentally there is a purpose to relieve society from a later burden and make it possible for the child to function normally as a member of the community. In ministering to the neglected, there is a desire to place within their grasp the means of lifting themselves outside the neglected class. Always the great end of society is itself and, in serving society we are securing to those who are handicapped in one way or another, the blessings of help and self dependence and happiness."

The visitors to the conference were welcomed last night by W. M. Smart, president of the Minot city commission. The program included also an address by Dr. Thomas Kane, president of the University of North Dakota.

A busy day was on the program today. It included discussion by Miss Henrietta Lund of the child welfare bureau, Bismarck; Dr. John Gillette, professor of sociology, University of North Dakota; talks by Dr. A. E. T. Wylie, superintendent of the home for the feeble-minded, Grafton; Dr. Hampstone, University of North Dakota; W. F. McClelland, superintendent state training school Mandan.

Metro Film Makes Big Hit at Capitol Theatre
"Strangers of the Night," the Fred Niblo production of Walter Black, the great international stage success, "Captain Applejack," on the New York Times, the Capitol Theatre, Sunday, October 14. It is proving one of the most popular film attractions of the current season. The praise of the press in other cities where this Metro-Louis B. Mayer picture has been shown was only a forerunner of the enthusiastic reception "Strangers of the Night" received from the New York press reviewers.

"If one expected Fred Niblo to make an excellent picture out of 'Captain Applejack'—and here is one who did—ones will not be disappointed," said the New York Tribune. "Niblo has produced a piece with amazing and always likable fidelity to the original play," wrote the reviewer of the New York Sun. "This film version of 'Captain Applejack' fairly talks and dances in action," writes the critic of the New York Post.

Wrote the reviewer of the New York Mail, "A film far above the average. The spectators enjoyed it." "Strangers of the Night" is going to take mighty strong," said the Daily News. "What is shown of 'Strangers of the Night' at the Capitol is so good," stated the critic of the New York Times, "that one feels a regret that it terminates as soon as it does." "A picture that holds interest every minute," said the New York American.

"As far as we could note the change in title from 'Captain Applejack' to 'Strangers of the Night' is the only one made from the great play to the film now at the Capitol Theatre," said the Evening World. "Following on the heels of 'Scaramouche,' Metro looks to have another winner at the Capitol this week with 'Strangers of the Night,'" wrote the reviewer of the Times Square Daily.

Fred Niblo Makes Stage Play Into Splendid Comedy For Metro

Reviewed by Sumner Smith
Once upon a time when you cast the optics over Metro's on "Strangers of the Night." That statement is a warning of what is to follow, for here come the superlatives. First, let's say that this Louis B. Mayer adaptation of the stage play, "Captain Applejack," directed by Fred Niblo, is one of the finest examples of motion picture entertainment. That applies from every angle. The picture certainly should tickle the risibilities of every audience—city and small town, country club and ranch—as few pictures have done before.

The stage play was one of the best comedies ever produced in New York and the picture is easily one of the best ever screened. It has wonderful artistry, it has splendid acting, it has perfect continuity—and it is marvelous entertainment. Also, it gathers speed and increases in suspense up to the final fifty feet and gains in the last as the projection machine whirls off the footage.

Following on the heels of "Scaramouche," Metro looks to have another winner at the Capitol this week with "Strangers of the Night," the screen adaptation of "Captain Applejack." Niblo has turned out an excellent piece of work with this vehicle, that ranks with or surmounts any feature the Capitol has housed so far this season. Not only is the production of decided note, but the work of the cast marks a combined effort that augments a picture which will have that most valuable means of advertising—by word of mouth.—Times Square Daily.

ROTARIANS GO TO 'CLEANERS' FOR MEETING

Learn Intricate Processes of a Modern Laundry in Their Weekly Meeting

BOYS' WORK REPORT

President Duemeland Informs Rotarians of Work Being Done Throughout District

The Rotary club went to the cleaners today. The members learned just how thoroughly a real clothes cleaning and laundering job is in a modern laundry these days. Also the vast difference between such an institution and the old-fashioned Monday washday operations.

This week is visiting week in laundries affiliated with the National Laundrymen's Association. The Capital Steam Laundry of Bismarck is a member, and this week is receiving scores of visitors individually at the establishment. Rotarian Birka Ward of the laundry company invited the Rotarians to lunch there and also to learn something about the business.

Mr. Ward, President W. B. Couch of the laundry company and Samuel Payne, manager, explained the various processes while the laundry machines were in operation. The Rotarians learned that the business of laundering a collar in modern fashion is an intricate process, requiring expensive machinery and skillful hands. They saw that collars pass through several different machines before being pronounced ready for delivery. One machine, for example, simply ironed and softened the edges of the collar to prevent damage to the shirt, a new machine. Another ironed the collar except for the seam where the collar folds and that was dampened. The next machine curled the collar in proper shape to be delivered.

The Rotarians also saw that shirts pass through several different machines, each doing one particular job. The visitors did not have time to inspect all of the machinery and equipment of the laundry but they got a good idea of the business in inspecting the more intricate finishing machines.

Among other things they learned that in a modern laundry buttons are not torn off as in the old days, but missing buttons are sewed on and carrying the word "service to the last degree" the laundry has darning and sewing machines.

The luncheon was served on the second floor of the laundry building, with President Henry Duemeland presiding and Les Richmond as chairman of the program committee. Frank Murphy was required to tell something of his recent long automobile trip to the west coast and back, and he informed the Rotarians that when he came through the southern desert country he was surprised to find out that Sam had so much land to set out to dry. North Dakota, he added, looked mighty good when he returned.

President Duemeland told of the visit he and Secretary Ray Bergeson made to Minneapolis to attend a district executive meeting, and of discussions, for the next Rotary conference which will be held in Bismarck. He particularly praised the progress being made in boys' work throughout the district, as related at the executive committee meeting. Birthdays celebrated included those of Phil Meyer, Carl Nelson and E. J. Taylor. Archie McPhee and Harry Bernstein entertained as "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean." W. B. Couch and Sam Payne were the guests introduced to the visiting Rotarians. Hank Halverson sang for the ladies. Visitors of the day included George Hogue, Harry Bernstein, Archie McPhee and W. S. Neal. The attendance report was 83.6 percent.

Emigration To U. S. Alarms Norway

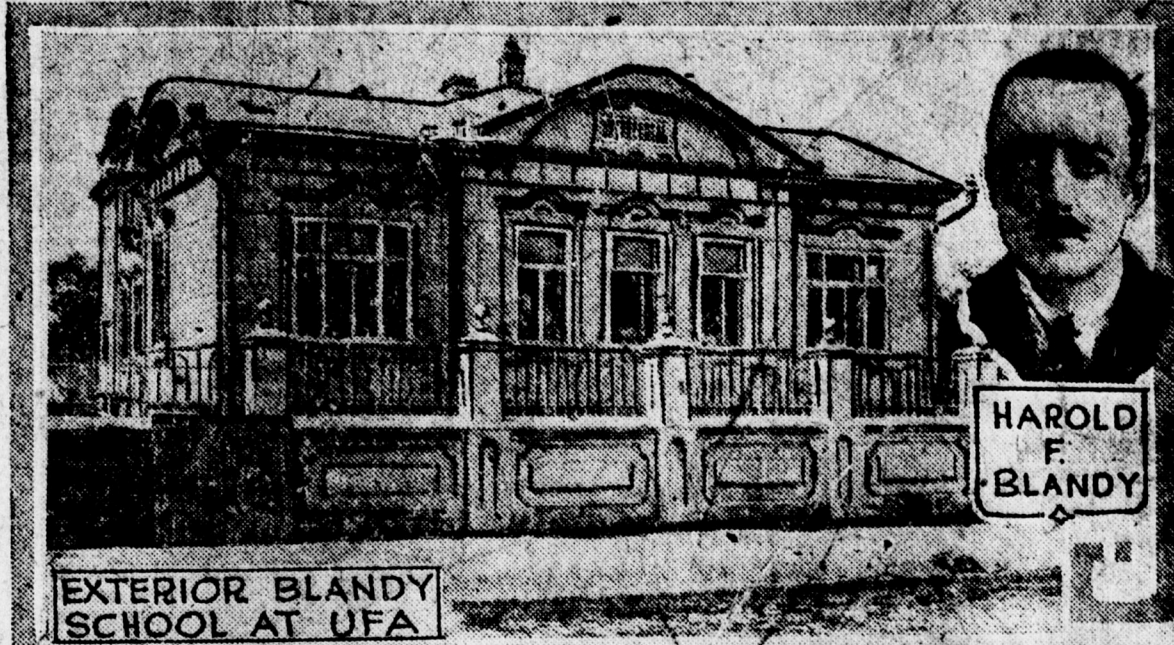

Christiania, Oct. 24.—A series of conferences of a semi-official nature are shortly to take place under the aegis of the Norwegian Home Office to consider the best means of stopping the constant exodus to Norwegian subjects to America.

During the last twelve months the number of emigrants from the country has reached an alarming figure, so much so that the military authorities in the districts cannot obtain the necessary quotas of men for the yearly conscriptive training.

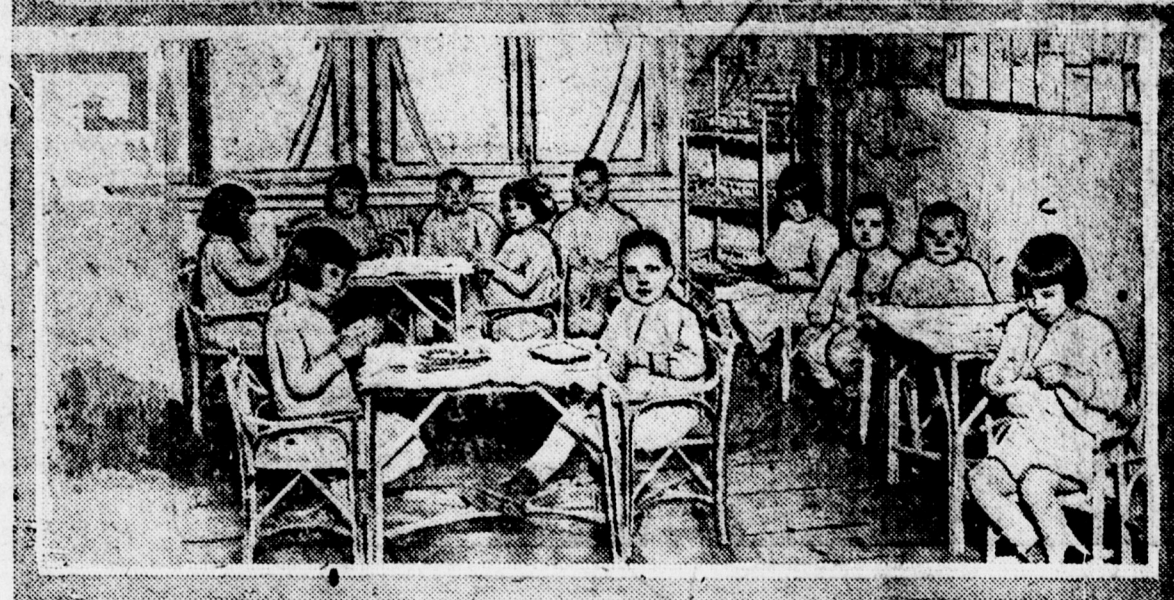

One suggestion being put forward is that the sparsely populated northern provinces of Norway should be colonized, the colonists to be encouraged by state aid to cultivate the land, form communities and otherwise utilize the vast areas that are as yet entirely wild.

FOUND GUILTY. St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 24.—Geo. V. Halliday, was found guilty of third degree forgery in connection with counterfeiting $1,500,000 of interim certificates for French government bonds and his punishment was fixed at five years imprisonment. The verdict was reached by the jury last night and read in circuit court today.

Russians Honor Americans Who Died In Relief Administration's Service During War Against Great Famine

EXTERIOR BLANDY SCHOOL AT UFA

INTERIOR BLANDY CHILDRENS HOME AT UFA

Harold F. Blandy of New York, the American Relief Administration worker who died in Ufa, Russia, from typhus contracted while working among the disease stricken victims of the Great Hunger, has been honored by having two Russian institutions named for him.

At Ufa the Blandy Memorial Hospital is ministering to the needs of the population and the name of the young American martyr is held in sacred remembrance. On the anniversary of his death, ten thousand people of the city knelt bareheaded in the square on which the hospital faces, while the Russian archbishop of the Ufa Diocese celebrated a requiem mass. High officials and church dignitaries marched in the procession and they were followed by long lines of peasants and workers who had been saved from starvation by the help of America. There were children in the procession who had eaten in the A. R. A. kitchens; men and women to whom the American gift of corn had come as manna from heaven; grateful patients whose diseases had been healed with medicaments which American charity had brought to Russia; mothers whose children had been born within the walls of the hospital whose doors would have been closed to them had it not been for A. R. A. support.

And out in the city of Miasa, not far from Ekaterinburg on the edge of Siberia, there is the Blandy Memorial Home for Children. The relief famine waifs and orphans are still being fed from the rations that the A. R. A. left behind.

Nor is Harold Blandy the only American to be so honored. At Simbirsk, where Philip B. Sheldy mysteriously disappeared, and is admitted dead, there is a Sheldy Memorial Home, the finest children's home in the entire city, a model in its equipment and management, whose juvenile inmates sleep between A. R. A. sheets, under American blankets, bathe with A. R. A. soap, dry themselves on A. R. A. towels, wear A. R. A. shoes and, when they are sick, take A. R. A. medicines, as do the children in thousands of other government institutions throughout the Soviet Republic.

The A. R. A. has withdrawn from Russia but what America did there will not be forgotten. The relief ended because the famine which the far off American people had fought so successfully was at an end. Russia is no longer starving, but the masses of her people know where their salvation came from, and they are grateful.

NORTH DAKOTA WELFARE LAWS ARE PRAISED

C. L. Young of Bismarck Tells Social Work Conference That Advance Has Been Made

MUCH YET TO BE DONE

Minot, N. D., Oct. 24.—North Dakota now has a good system of welfare laws, particularly with relation to children, but need adequate administration and an understanding public opinion, C. L. Young of Bismarck president of the North Dakota Conference of Social Work, told the conference in his president's address here last night.

"Law in the broad sense is the basic thing," said Mr. Young. "Without it society is chaos. With it, there is hope that the greatest good to the greatest number may be ultimately achieved. But I am more and more convinced of the utility of statutes alone. They may, and often do, present problems rather than solutions of problems, and child welfare laws are no exception to this rule. They may be well conceived but they are without value unless they are wisely administered, and wise administration is impossible unless back of it lie understanding and discernment on the part of the public and the executive officials."

Laws Enacted
"From the study of the conditions in this state made by or for the children's code commission, and from consideration of child welfare standards laid down by those conferences of experts in which standards were considered I feel that the laws now upon our books are the expression of the best thought of our time upon the problems which they seek to reach. There are two or three measures of prime importance which were defeated and which shall require our consideration at later sessions of the assembly, but there are other things of outstanding importance now lying at hand to do."

Mr. Young declared the viewpoint that measures for the relief of unfortunate were acts of charity was wrong. He declared "there is slight conception of the relation of the welfare of such classes to the general welfare of society and too little knowledge of the objective toward which the laws provide for them are directed. It follows that the officials who are required to give the laws effect must conduct their work in advance of the understanding of the public whose servants they are, else they fail entirely to achieve the results for which the laws were designed."

An Opportunity
"Here then," President Young continued, "is something constructive to be done. Welfare legislation will not accomplish its purposes unless there is interpretation of the laws to the public, for it is not conceivable that the administration of the laws will be far in advance of the conception of them entertained in the public mind. There must be knowledge not only of what the laws contain, but of the theories which underlie them. True, the aim of the legislation which we have is to help the individual members of the groups toward which the laws are specifically directed, but after all the great objective is the protection of society as a whole. These laws in fact affect the material and spiritual welfare of every citizen of the state. When care and training are provided for a crippled, or a deaf, or a dumb or a blind child, there is contribution not only to the child's comfort but fundamentally there is a purpose to relieve society from a later burden and make it possible for the child to function normally as a member of his community. In ministering to the neglected, there is a desire to place within their grasp the means of lifting themselves outside the neglected class. Always the great end of society is itself and, in serving society we are securing to those who are handicapped in one way or another, the blessings of help and self dependence and happiness."

Visitors Welcomed.
The visitors to the conference were welcomed last night by W. M. Smart, president of the Minot city commission. The program included also an address by Dr. Thomas Kane, president of the University of North Dakota.

A busy day was on the program today. It included discussion by Miss Henrietta Lund of the children's bureau, Bismarck; Dr. John Gillette, professor of sociology, University of North Dakota; talks by Dr. A. R. T. Wylie, superintendent of the home for the feeble-minded, Grand Forks; Dr. H. M. McCall, superintendent state training school Mandan.

Metro Film Makes Big Hit at Capitol Theatre

"Strangers of the Night," the Fred Niblo production of Walter Blackstock's great international stage success, "Captain Applejack," opened its New York premiere at the Capitol Theatre, Sunday, October 14. It is proving one of the most popular film attractions of the current season. The praise of the press in other cities where this Metro-Louis B. Mayer picture has been shown was only a forerunner of the enthusiastic reception "Strangers of the Night" received from the New York press reviewers.

"If one expected Fred Niblo to make an excellent picture out of 'Captain Applejack'—and here is one who did—one will not be disappointed," said the New York Tribune. "Niblo has produced a piece with an amazing and always likable fidelity to the original play," wrote the reviewer of the New York Sun. "This film version of 'Captain Applejack' fairly talks and dances in action," wrote the critic of the New York Post.

Wrote the reviewer of the New York Mail. "A film far above the average. The spectators enjoyed it." "Strangers of the Night" is going to take mighty strong," said the Daily News. "What is above of 'Strangers of the Night' at the Capitol is so good," stated the critic of the New York Times, "that one feels a regret that it terminates as soon as it does." "A picture that holds interest every minute," said the New York American.

"As far as we could note the change in title from 'Captain Applejack' to 'Strangers of the Night' is the only one made from the great play to the film now at the Capitol Theatre," said the Evening World. Following on the heels of "Scaramouche," Metro makes a picture which will have that most valuable means of advertising—by word of mouth. "Strangers of the Night," wrote the reviewer of the Times Square Daily.

Fred Niblo Makes Stage Play Into Splendid Comedy For Metro

For once you can believe a press sheet when you cast the optics over Metro's on "Strangers of the Night." That statement is a warning of what is to follow, for here come the superlatives. First, let's say that this Louis B. Mayer adaptation of the stage play, "Captain Applejack," directed by Fred Niblo, is one of the finest examples of motion picture entertainment. ASK SUPPORT FOR 'DEMONS'

Will Need Solid Backing of City to go Through Champ Contest

The time of the starting of the championship football game between Bismarck and Mandan high school elevens—3:30 p. m. Saturday on the local lot—was set especially for the benefit of business men and others who might find it easier to absent themselves from their business at that time to witness the game, it was stated by high school athletic authorities today.

A call for liberal support of the team was made today. If the Bismarck team wins the championship contest from Mandan, it will have to meet heavy expenses for the semifinals in the state tournament, and more expenses if the team goes into the championship contest as it did last year.

Upward Tendency Is Felt in Market Early Today

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Increased buying on the part of commission houses gave an upward tendency to the wheat market today, offering the early dealings. The close was unsettled, 1/2 cent to 3/4 cents to 1.06 1/4 to 1.07 1/4 and May 1.11 to 1.12.

EVEN A BATTLESHIP HAS BEADS

SIGHTLESS, HE AIDS OTHERS IN SEEING

Has Perfected Headlight Such as Men With Sight Have Failed to Accomplish

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

Washington, Oct. 24.—Sightless himself, he helps others to see. For J. E. Nicholson, blind inventor of Washington, has perfected what many men with good eyesight have attempted and failed—a simple, practicable automobile headlight that will always cast its rays in the direction the car is moving.

With Nicholson's invention, the light turns as the car turns. You never are driving into a dark wall, with your lights shooting at an angle of 30 degrees from the path in which you are moving.

"Equipped with these lights," Nicholson says, "the car looks where it's looking. I believe they will reduce accidents materially and save many lives. They are a safeguard to pedestrians as well as to motorists."

Successful demonstration of the blind inventor's lighting mechanism has been made before Inspector Headley and officers of the police traffic squad here, before a representative of the lighting committee of the Eastern Conference of Automobile Administrators, representing 11 eastern states.

That a blind man should be the one to work out successfully a lighting problem on which men with good eyes themselves have failed seems one of the little ironies which fate sometimes plays on us.

Nicholson not only conceived the idea, but he actually made the first detailed drawings of his invention. "It was all easy," he says. "I had it all right up in front of me in my imagination, like any other fellow. I could see every detail of it—in my mind's eye. Of course in making the drawings I had to work on a large scale, in inches, but that was easy. By measuring my distances from the edge of the paper I could get it all down accurately. The man who made the working sketches said it was the easiest sketch to work from he ever had."

Before losing his eyesight, Nicholson was an expert mechanic at the Washington navy yard. His blindness, he says, has accentuated his inventive bent without seriously handicapping him in working out his ideas.

"The blindness doesn't bother me," he insists. "I can picture to myself just how everything ought to be just as well as if I could see it."

Nicholson is now working on an "exhaust purifier" which he claims will neutralize the poisonous content of the fumes now tarred off by automobile engines.

DAKOTA MAN PIONEER AIR MAIL PILOT

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 24.—With all the advance in aviation and commercialization of the airplane, it remained for a North Dakota, C. B. Elison, R. A. M. A. S. R. C. son of O. Elison of Hatton, N. D., to obtain the first government contract for carrying mail by airplane in Alaska territory, and to establish The Farthest North Airplane company, a pioneer organization of its kind in Alaska.

Mr. Elison obtained his flying training during the World war, and in 1918 and 1919, made several exhibition flights in North Dakota.

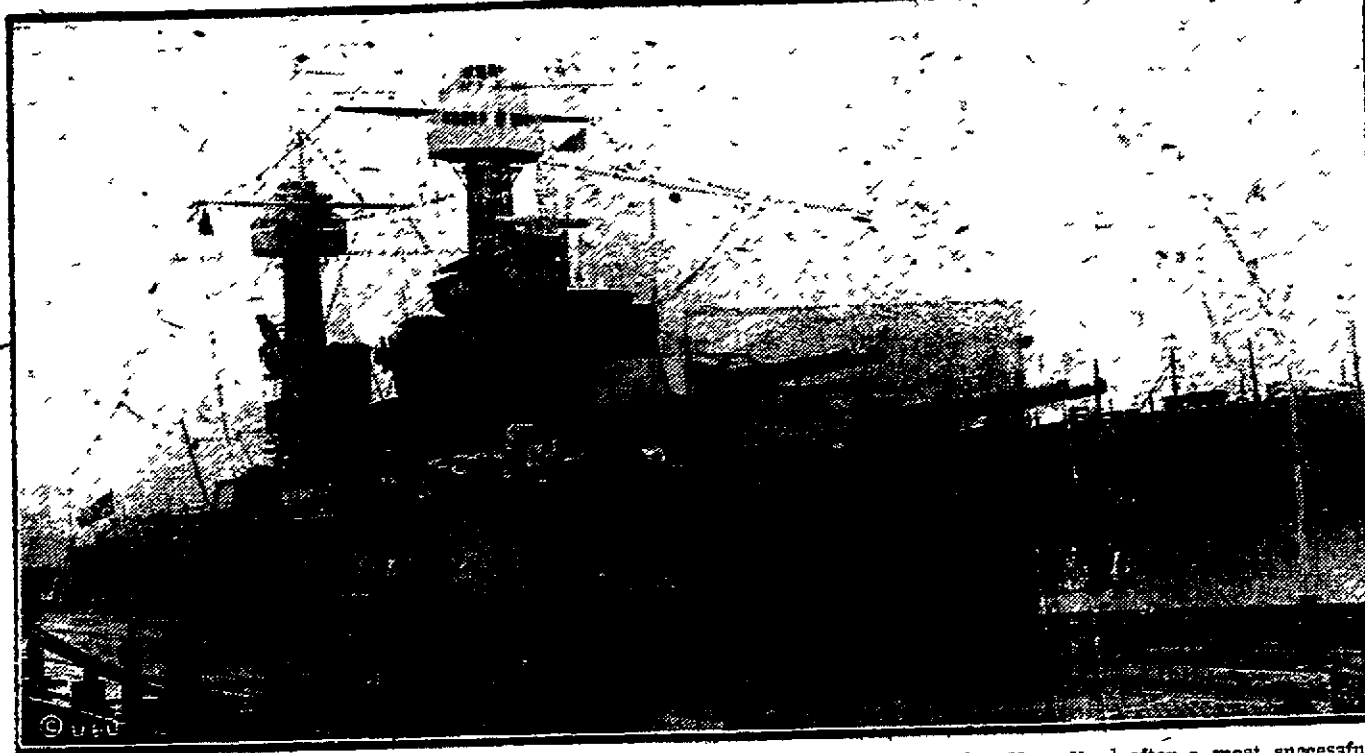

Graduate of U. N. D. He was graduated from the University of North Dakota, college of liberal arts in 1920, and in 1922 went to Fairbanks, Alaska, to take charge of the city schools there.

After a few months' sojourn in Alaska, he saw great possibilities for aviation—greater than those offered in the United States, because of difficulties of transportation and communication in the far north.

As a result, he and two friends, R. C. Wood and K. F. Thompson, sons of Fairbanks, formed The Farthest North Airplane company. They telegraphed the price of an airplane to Minneapolis and in a few weeks the machine was set ashore in Alaska.

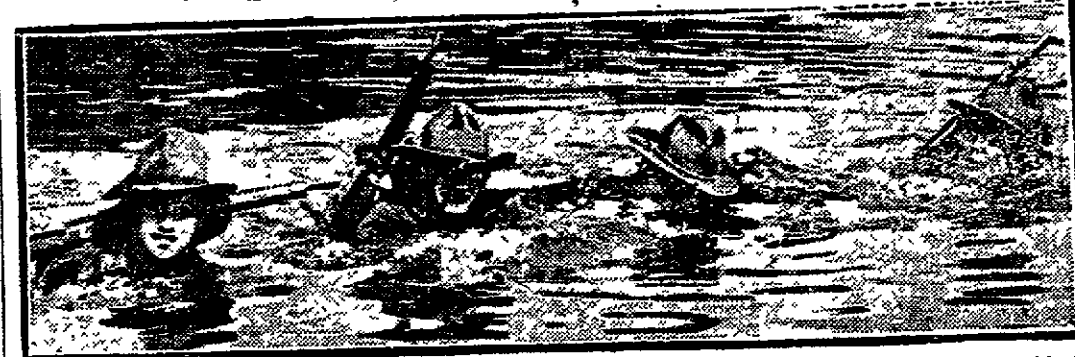

Hardly had the machine been uncrated than Elison obtained the contract for carrying United States mail to the Fairbanks mining company, a trip that had formerly taken 10 days, but which he made in two hours, carrying 400 pounds of mail. This was the first government contract for carrying mail by airplane to be let in Alaska territory. Since then, Mr. Elison has obtained other mail carrying contracts and plans to obtain more airplanes.

Mr. Elison has established an airplane school at Weeks field, Fairbanks.

No information was given as to how the pistols were recovered, Major Harold Sorenson said. Ownership was ascertained, however, he said, by numbers on them.

Explorer Reports Discovery in Jungles of Eastern Panama

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 24.—Discovery of a race of white Indians with flaxen hair, in the almost impenetrable jungles of eastern Panama, was reported today by Richard C. Marsh of Brockport, an explorer. Mr. Marsh the first white man to advance into that unexplored region since Balboa brought back photographs.

The story of the discovery is told by the Rochester Journal and the Post Express in a copyrighted article.

"I was in a native village when I noticed that white girls passing through the jungle," he said. "They had bodies as light as a sunburned white girl and decidedly light hair—a startling and incongruous sight among these black and rag clad negroes."

"It was then I was told they belonged to a white race living up the Chucuanque river. The negroes told me these whites all had light brown or yellow hair and were wild and warlike."

"The skin of the girls' faces were tanned but free from that colored pigment so distinguishable in all brown and darker races. The features of the eldest girl were of a high oval face, thin lips, well shaped chin and aquiline nose. They spoke no Spanish."

Warm Wave At Pole Is Not Permanent

Berlin, Oct. 24.—The warm weather reported from the Arctic regions is not to be taken seriously, according to Prof. Karl Kassner, of the Berlin Meteorological Institute. A hot wave hits the North Pole about every 35 years, and this is the first in a long time. The climate does not really change, warmer weather comes in cycles, and history is merely repeating itself. Antics of the sun are supposed to be responsible for the changes which come in the Arctic regions, as well as elsewhere in the world.

"That's All Right, Son. We'll Take Him On"

MA STRIBLING AND HER BOY FIGHTER DISCUSS AN OFFER.

By NEA Service
Macon, Ga., Oct. 24.—When Young Stribling, school-boy light-heavyweight, who caused the champion, Mike McTigue, and his imported referee, Harry Erle, such great embarrassment some days ago at Columbia, gets an offer to fight his mother decides whether it should be accepted or not.

"Ma" Stribling, as she is known here, is virtually the business manager of her young gladiator. She feels that Young Stribling is a match for any man of his weight in the world, especially after the manner in which he cuffed McTigue around, but she is careful to see that he is not over-matched—or underpaid. In short, "Ma" Stribling is a regular manager, and none of the wise-alecky promoters are going to put anything over on her.

Look in Ten Days

See the whiter teeth appear when you combat the film

Your druggist this week has 10-Day Tubes for a new way of teeth cleaning. Millions now employ it. You see its results in prettier teeth wherever you look today.

Now we urge you to learn what it means to you and yours. The test is delightful, the results are amazing. Go find them out.

The fight on film
Dental science has in late years started a fight on film. Film is that viscous coat you feel. Under old brushing methods, much of it clings and stays. Soon it becomes discolored, then forms dingy coats. That is why teeth lose luster.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Fewer escaped tooth troubles, fewer bad glistening teeth, under old-time brushing methods.

Now research has discovered two effective film combatants. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring. Able authorities proved these methods by many careful tests. Then a new-type tooth paste was created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Careful people of some 50 nations have now come to employ it largely by dental advice.

Night-and-day aids
Pepsodent also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva—the neutralizer of mouth acids. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva—put there to digest starch deposits.

These factors act as tooth-protecting agents. Every use of Pepsodent gives them manifold effect.

Protect the Enamel
Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combant which contains harsh grit.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

GERMANY IN CHAOS
History has already indelibly fixed the blame for the great war upon the shoulders of the militaristic ex-Kaiser Wilhelm and the German Junkers, although it is recorded that many Germans yet excuse him and his fellows from culpability. Germany at this time is in the throes of civil turmoil, an aftermath of the war, yet so unnatural to the people and the empire that current historians now are seeking to fix the blame for the present plight of the people.

That the separatist movement would break out was not unexpected. It had been predicted many weeks before as more likely to happen than that Germany would embrace Russian communism. The individualistic states of Germany were welded together under Bismarck and held together under Prussian domination when Germany was pushing forward as a world power under Wilhelm, but only with resentment, particularly in Bavaria.

That the leaders of Germany deliberately sought to place the country in a condition to avoid payment of reparations as provided in the Versailles treaty is not doubted by leading students of German conditions. The German industrialists seized upon the opportunity to flood the world with German marks, to speculate at a huge profit, to produce cheap labor and undersell all other countries in reestablishing the German markets. It was not an honest policy, either from a national viewpoint or as a business expedient. Germany has been bled white and a great crime committed against the German people.

A noted American writer recently visited the Krupp works. He was amazed at the productivity. He inspected the plant but was told he had not seen all. He was taken to a building and there shown printing presses, from which the Krupp works issued its own money.

The great industrialists were enabled by the depreciation of the mark and by manipulation of its value to profit enormously. They could lay goods down in America far cheaper than American manufacturers could produce them.

Then came the French occupation of the Ruhr. Ruthlessly and irresistibly the French slowly broke the magnates and the people until Germany was forced to surrender. Her steel industry was dealt a crushing blow for France obtained control of the richest industrial valley in the world and most of Germany's coal mines.

With a currency constantly depreciating, with the reins of Germany in the hands of the industrialists who either were engaged solely in exploitation for their own profit or engaged in building industry in a misguided belief that they might restore Germany's position by foul methods, Germany rapidly disintegrated. Labor was employed and paid, but could not purchase sufficient food with the money. A week's wages might be worth but half the amount a day or two days later.

The rest of the world probably will not be greatly concerned over the ultimate result of the separatist movement. A disunion of Germany would for scores of years perhaps remove what France believes is a constant menace to her future. The separate states of Germany could not war successfully. It is hardly possible that the states individually could build again the glory that was Germany's, nor progress so rapidly as they could in a well knit confederation. But it is possible that with disunion and with peace assured, the states would devote themselves to an intensive study of their own problems and perhaps ameliorate the now intolerable conditions for the majority of the German people.

CUT AND DRIED
We're well on our way to a civilization of canned food, canned music, canned drama and canned thought. This idea is set forward by Count Hya Tolstoy, son of the Russian writer.

Well, yes. We buy food canned in a tin, music canned in the phonograph and radio, and drama canned in movie form so half a dozen shows can be carried around in a suitcase full of film reels.

The idea, that our thoughts also are reaching us in canned form, is true though few of us ever sized it up that way. Propagandists, of course, are the chief canners. One consolation is that a variety of cans of thought are handed to us, and we can take our pick.

Is it a good thing that our thoughts are reaching us in canned form? Why not? It's merely a process of delegating our thinking to an endless procession of experts. The man who thinks entirely for himself is a mental Jack-of-all-trades-and-master-of-none. Each question that comes up, he concentrates on as if it were the most important thing in the universe. Waste of time.

Say there's going to be an eclipse of the sun. Do you waste time trying to figure out why? Certainly, not. You want an astronomer to do this bit of thinking for you. He does. Newspaper is your agent or medium of exchange.

When the astronomer's auto breaks down, he turns it over to a garage mechanic instead of trying to figure it out himself.

Billions of different things to think about in our world. Tendency is for each person to single out the line of thinking that interests him most—and concentrate on it, become an expert for others.

Printing press cans thoughts for future, fast as discovered.

NEW YORK'S VALUE

Had cost over 11 billion dollars to duplicate New York City. That's the assessed valuation of its real estate and buildings and other personal property for taxation.
If France could get that much indemnity out of Germany, she'd probably bury the ax and Europe could smilingly live her normal life again.
And yet the taxed value of New York City is only about a thirtieth of our entire national wealth. None of us fully realizes the enormous wealth and resources of our country. They are beyond human imagination.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

"Have you ever been to Dixie Land, children?" asked the Fairy Queen.
"Dixie Land?" repeated Nancy and Nick eagerly. "Where is that?"
The Fairy Queen laughed. "You've never been there, dear, or you would certainly remember, for Dixie Land is a fine, big place. It's the whole south. Didn't you ever hear a song about:

"Away down south in the land of cotton,
Cinnamon fields and sandy bottom,
I'll away, I'll away, I'll away, I'll away?"

"Yes, we have!" answered both twins together. "Is that Dixie Land?"

"It certainly is!" said the Fairy Queen.

"Does cinnamon grow there?" Nick wanted to know. "Is that why they're called 'cinnamon fields'?"

"No!" The Fairy Queen shook her head. "They are called that because in many places the soil is a rich reddish brown, exactly the color of cinnamon. And in many places there is a lot of sand, especially along the rivers and river valleys. That's called sandy-bottom, and good for many things to grow in. You'll like Dixie Land because it's different in many ways from the places you have been in."

"Are we going with one of your 'airy helpers'?" asked Nancy.

"No, my dear, I'm sending you by yourselves. I want you to go around and visit all of my friends there, the birds and wood folk and water folk and see if they are happy. Let me know at once if there is anything they need. Wear these magic shoes and they will not only save you from danger but help you to travel quickly. A wish will take you any place you want to go. Here are the addresses of some of my friends."

And she handed Nick a paper with a long list of names on it.

"Some of them are hard to read," explained the Fairy Queen when she saw Nick's puzzled look, "but you'll have no trouble making them out, for the magic shoes will help you to do many things that you could not do otherwise. What is the first place you are to go?"

"This says 'Phlander and Philomena Possum, Buttonwood Tree, Near-the-rock, On-the-Old-Plantation,'" read the little boy.

"My, oh, my!" laughed the Fairy Queen kindly. "I haven't heard from her for months. I wonder what she is doing. Possums are always in trouble and always up to mischief, but they have as many troubles of their own as they give to other people, I think. And they are the bravest little people I know. Well, you'd better be starting. Tell Philomena Possum not to eat too many persimmons and to watch out for 'coon dogs. Goodbye!"

"Goodbye!" cried Nancy and Nick as Nimble-Toes, the Fairy Queen's doorkeeper, bowed them out.

A New Helmsman Might Help Some

I caught my breath sharply when the man said he would give me three thousand dollars apiece. I wondered if I had a right to sell them. I wondered if Alice knew their value. Surely she could not have known it, nor the person who sold them to me. When in the world would this mystery be solved?

I decided to cable Alice immediately. I would not wait for a letter. In the meantime if I sold three of the jewels with one that was lost, I would have taken twelve thousand dollars from someone who really owned them. Until I knew something about it, I was doing something dishonest to sell them.

Then there came to me, little Marquette, the sight of my husband's face and I knew just the trouble he was in. I decided this once to take a leaf out of John's book, provide for the present and let the future take care of itself.

Silently I handed the stones to the broker and asked him to arrange the cash again on the depleted string.

"Shall I give you a check, my dear young lady?" he asked, looking at me rather peculiarly.

"I would rather have the money," I answered.

The man sent a boy out to a nearby bank and soon I had nine thousand dollars in my hand. I put the pearls and the money in my bag and was leaving hurriedly when the broker suggested, "If you will allow me to advise you, I would not carry those stones in that careless way. Why don't you put them around your neck? You can let them drop down under your blouse." I took his advice and started for the station, and then realized that I was very hungry. I had nothing to eat all day. I went into a modest restaurant where, to my surprise, I found in one corner of the room very much engrossed in each other, Ruth Ellington and Walter Burke.

Ruth's consternation was quite as great as mine and yet I felt that in some odd way she was relieved, for she came to my table quickly.

"I'm so glad to see you, Leslie dear," she said. "Are you going back home tonight? If so, may I go with you?"

Mr. Burke said nothing, but I knew he was very much annoyed when I answered, "I'm going just as soon as I can get a little something to eat."

"Have you a stateroom?" he asked abruptly. He seemed to make the question answer something which Ruth had spoken to him before I came in.

"No. I was not sure I'd get my business done in time to go."

"I'll get you one." Without a glance at Ruth he walked out of the restaurant and left Ruth and me together.

ROBBING PETER TO PAY PAUL

Public opinion and state industries are great things in their way. Public opinion forbids the state mill from buying grain in the cheapest market, and the political necessity of trying to make the mill at Grand Forks pay out, forces the Board of Administration to evade the law and cease letting contracts for flour for state institutions to the lowest bidder, so that more money can be thrown to the state mill.

Of course all us taxpayers, and the administration, want to see the mill make at least its expenses, but personally we cannot see that we are going to be any ahead if we lose money on institution contracts in order to help the balance sheet of the mill.

But thousands of our citizens are convinced the state mill and elevator are the greatest things ever devised by our political wisemen. Many others believe that these industries be given the best chance possible, but there are still others who fail to see the business sagacity of robbing Peter to pay Paul, for the arrangement is but adding cost to the state and its citizens to swell the income of the Grand Forks concern.

All of which leads back to the question: What good to the taxpayers is the mill, anyway?—Beach Advance.

Girls' School Clothes Should Have Degree of Individuality

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

The little girl who goes back to school appropriately dressed, in becoming school clothes is spared any heart burnings because of her appearance. One of childhood's tragedies is the belief that one's schoolmates are better dressed or that one's own clothes are unbecoming or ugly or out of date. School coats and dresses should be plain, of course, but they should have style and a certain degree of individuality.

The coat and scarf set pictured here shows a warm, practical and attractive outfit for the cold days of the approaching winter. It is made of heavy Scotch tweed with a large plaid pattern in sand and brown. The pockets and scarf are edged with a camel-hair material in its natural color. As may be seen in the illustration the coat is made with a plain back. The fullness over the hips is held by a halfbelt which buttons at the front. Sleeves are of a modified kimono pattern with deep cuffs of the material.

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS

A SALAD that is different and yet simple to prepare is the following:

Pear and Cream Cheese Salad.—Arrange halves of canned pears with a cube of tart jelly in the cavity of each, placed round side up in pairs on a nest of lettuce for each serving. Cream the brick of cream cheese, adding enough cream to soften so that it may be spread like frosting over the pears; dip the knife in boiling water occasionally to make the process simpler. Serve with a spoonful of stiff mayonnaise on the side of the salad plate.

Orange and Pecan Salad.—Remove the skin from a banana cut into quarters lengthwise and again crosswise, then roll in pecan meats finely chopped. Peel two oranges and remove the center core. Insert a cube of banana in each slice. Serve each with two slices on lettuce. Pass French dressing. This will serve four portions.

Shrimp Salad.—Drain a can of shrimps, rinse with cold water and remove the dark centers. Break in good-sized pieces and marinate with French dressing. Chill for two hours, add one small bottle of stuffed olives and twelve tiny sweet pickles sliced, then add two tablespoons of green onions. Hollow out six green peppers by removing the seeds and fill with this mixture. Serve garnished with watercress and mayonnaise which has been enriched by the addition of a small portion of sour cream whipped.

Curried Celery.—Prepare the celery as above, cooking it until tender; drain and add to the following mixture, using two cupsful of celery, either in cubes or in dice, one tablespoonful of chopped onion in one tablespoonful of butter until slightly colored; add two tablespoonsful of flour and when browned, add a teaspoonful of curry powder. When well blended, add one cupful of good flavored stock and boil up; add a tablespoonful of lemon juice and serve at once in a border of hot boiled rice.

ELTING.

Speaking of hats! Alan Dwan, who directed Douglas Fairbanks in his latest screen sensation, "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood" had a series of temperamental hats—one for every scene! The newest addition to the Dwan hat family is a cork helmet—the same kind as they wear in Egypt and South Africa.

"All the knights are wearing a helmet," said Dwan, "so I thought I might as well, too."

He said he thought seriously during the making of this United Artists release of making everybody in the organization dress in the period, meaning in armor or silken robes. "I wanted to keep the atmosphere intact," said Allan. "And besides, if anybody made a mistake and walked in front of the camera it would only improve the picture."

The smart black hat of this season is very likely to have a single white flower, a bow of white fur, or a bit of white grosgrain ribbon on it.

LESS EMBROIDERY
Embroidery is being used more sparingly this season than in the ones just preceding, but with much more distinction. It appears most frequently in bands, or in combination with rhinestones or colored beads.

CHIFFON VELVET
Very thin white chiffon velvet is to be very popular this year for wedding gowns, and naturally this luxurious material needs little in the way of trimming.

WIFE STATE'S BEST WITNESS

Testifies Against Former Husband in Murder Trial

Boxman, Mont., Oct. 24.—Mrs. Iva Danner was prepared today to take the witness stand and continue her testimony for the prosecution in the case of her recently divorced husband, Seth Danner, charged with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. John Sprouse, who formerly lived at Moberly, S. D.

Sprouse was shot and his wife slain with an ax when the two couples were on an auto trip in Nov. 1920. Subsequently Mrs. Danner told a deputy sheriff at the time and revealed the place where the bodies were buried.

Counsel for Danner offered no objections when Mrs. Danner was called to testify against his client. She described in detail how she had seen Mrs. Sprouse slain and said that Danner told her he killed the woman so she would not inform on him having shot Sprouse previously.

Later Mrs. Danner said the bodies were buried in a shallow grave near the auto camp. Sprouse was killed for purpose of robbery.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

AMERICAN HORSE WINS IN "RACE OF CENTURY"

ZEV WINS! ZEV! ZEV! That cry came from 60,000 throats as Zev, belonging to Harry Sinclair, American oil magnate, triumphed over Papyrus, England's pride owned by Ben Irish, gentleman farmer, in a race at a mile and a half at Belmont Park, N. Y., in the first international match race in America. The winner received $80,000 and a gold cup; the loser, $20,000.

ZEV LEADS AT START

Earl Sande kicked Zev (on the inside) into the lead the very second the starting barrier was sprung. Here you see the American entry getting the jump on the English Derby winner.

SPORTS

A. C. Takes Big Crowd To Game

Fargo, Oct. 24.—Agricultural college students, several hundred strong, with more confidence in the prowess of their team than they have felt in many years, will travel to Grand Forks, the home of the state university, on Saturday to watch the Yellow and Green warriors battle the long-haired Flickertail squad.

Results of a whirlwind sale of tickets and boosters two yesterday has assured the starting of a special train from here at 8:30 Saturday morning that will carry more than 100 students and the full 44-piece college band.

New Limit of Draft Urged

Los Angeles, Oct. 24.—A $10,000 draft limit is proposed as a compromise measure for consideration of the Pacific Coast Baseball League annual meeting at Avalon, Catalina Island, November 13. Captain Neal, vice president of the Louisville Baseball Club, prepared the plan which Oscar Reichow, business manager of the Los Angeles baseball club, announced he would submit to the coast magnates.

The $10,000 limit is for class "AA" clubs, embracing the coast league. The majors would be asked to drop to draft from class "C" and "D" circuits. The class "AA" clubs would be permitted to draft one player from class "A", three from "B" and any number from "C" and "D". The Nedl plan, Reichow says, will at least pave the way for discussion of a plan that may reopen draft negotiations with the majors.

Grid Games Break Records

New York, Oct. 24.—Now attendance records for football are likely to be set this season, if the early season rush for the turnstiles at gridiron battles throughout the country may be taken as a criterion.

The total attendance in five of the leading gridiron engagements last week approximated 300,000. The Harvard-Holy Cross game attracted 50,000; the Michigan-Ohio State game 45,000; the Pennsylvania-Columbia game 38,000; the Notre Dame-Princeton game 30,000, and the Syracuse-Pittsburgh game 25,000. Nearly 200 other college football contests that afternoon, each attracting additional thousands, indicated the tremendous popularity of the sport.

Miller Huggins To Be Feted

Cincinnati, Oct. 24.—November 10 has been set by the committee in charge as the date for the testimonial dinner to be given by Cincinnati fans in honor of Miller Huggins, manager of the New York Yankees, world's champions, who is a Cincinnati native.

On that night hundreds of fans almost all of them knowing the diminutive lawyer-player-manager personally, will gather at a downtown hotel and sing the praises of their guest.

The committee extends a general invitation to all baseball fans to attend.

Cobb Breaks Wagner Record

New York, Oct. 24.—Ty Cobb, fiery pilot of the Detroit Tigers, has added new glory to his all-time batting record, a mark almost lost sight of in the closing battles of the season and the smoke of world series conflict. With the end of the 1923 campaign, Cobb ended his eighteenth consecutive season above the 300 swatting class and came into possession of the all-time record, which he has shared for a season with Hans Wagner, famous old shortstop of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Wagner set the mark at 17 years.

CRIPPLE SAYS HIS CONDITION IS BLESSING

Because as a Result Leading Authority on Anesthesia Prominent Editor

BY DON E. P. DROHAN.

NEA Service Writer, Avon Lake, O., Oct. 24.—A toothache or a headache and most of us are at war with the rest of the world.

But here you'll find a smiling little man, spending his days in a wheelchair, who regards a chronic affliction, such as his, the greatest blessing Providence can bestow upon anyone.

And from that invalid chair he's performing a great humanitarian service. A helpless cripple, paralyzed in every limb, he's carrying on the work he began when he hung out his shingle in Cincinnati two decades ago.

Despite his affliction—rather because of it, he insists—Dr. F. H. McMechan has become one of the world's foremost authorities on anesthesia.

In addition, he's one of the most prominent medical writers of the day. He's editor of various professional journals and secretary of the Association of America Medical Editors.

Good "Samaritan." But he's more of a philosopher, more of a Good Samaritan, than he is physician or editor. And that is not detracting a bit from his ability as either.

"An ailment like mine ripens a person," he reasons. "A perfectly healthy fellow quickly becomes dissatisfied with his environment. It's different with the afflicted man. He can be happy anywhere, no matter what his surroundings are."

"This trouble of mine came only a few months after my marriage. It followed my ministrations to a pneumonia patient. It's deforming arthritis."

"I've undergone all sorts of operations. I've had some first-hand experience with anesthetics. That's one reason I know something about them."

Two-thirds of the hospitals in the country don't know how to administer anesthetics properly, Dr. McMechan contends.

"All over the country, lives are being sacrificed by anesthetists who don't know their business. But a better day is coming."

Dr. McMechan says he lost the use of his hands writing letters to the surgeon general's office during the war, trying to convince the medical officers that anesthetics should be administered in the base hospitals by doctors who knew their job.

"I won the battle," he declares. "But it was too late. I couldn't use my typewriter after the fight was over."

Since then his wife has served as his secretary.

"She's the brains of the partnership," the doctor maintains.

"No, I'm only the hands and feet," she insists.

Chronic Traveler.

For several years Dr. McMechan has been secretary of the Associated Anesthetists of the United States and Canada. Annually he travels from coast to coast, addressing medical conventions. Mrs. McMechan, of course, always accompanies him.

The doctor is, indeed, a real altruist. He smiles infectious.

And the birds and the flowers, even the often angry waters of Lake Erie, upon whose shores he has chosen to while away his remaining years, seem to laugh with him.

So when you're feeling out of sorts, just think of the little smiling man, here in this quiet Cleveland

GERMANS STAND AS BAND PLAYS FRENCH ANTHEM

Zurich, Switzerland, Oct. 24.—There was a tense moment during the recent congress in this city of the International Cycling Union when German and Austrian delegates met the French representatives—but it came out all right, for the Germans arose and stood at attention while a band played the "Marseillaise," the national anthem of France.

It was the first cycling congress since the war, and envoys of all three countries sat down around the same table to discuss the sport from an international standpoint. It devolved upon Mr. J. Breton, chief delegate for France, to make the closing address. It is the custom at these gatherings, for the band to strike up the national anthem of the speaker's country as soon as he concludes.

While Mr. Breton was speaking the predominant thought was, what will the Germans do when the band plays "Allons enfants de la patrie"? What they did was to stand up, as did everyone else, and remain stiffly at attention until the music stopped. Everybody was greatly relieved.

"Sports are destined to bring the nations of Europe together on friendly terms quicker than the exchange of sugar-coated acid notes," Mr. Breton said later in the day, pointing to Walter Rutt, the veteran cyclist from Germany, chatting in an amiable manner with Gabriel Poulain, the forty-year-old champion of France.

MAN SMOTHERED. Aneta, N. D., Oct. 24.—William McKinnon, 60, was smothered to death in a gravel pit near here, the gravel caving in on him and completely burying him alive while he was at work. Charles Lippert, his employer made a desperate effort to rescue McKinnon but was unsuccessful.

CHAMPIONS ALL

KAHANOMOKU PADDOCK DEMPSEY

By NEA Service Los Angeles, Oct. 23.—A great galaxy of championship talent faced the camera when his picture was taken. Duke Kahanomoku, a champion swimmer with Olympic laurels; Charley Paddock, greatest of all dash runners, and Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing title holder. The three met here recently in connection with an Olympic drive. Los Angeles hopes to get the games in 1932. A stadium seating 70,000 is planned.
